

$500,000 BUILDING FIRED IN LABOR WAR IN CHICAGO

Police Searching Apartments Under Construction for Unexploded Bombs After Blaze Started by Terrorists

TWO WOMEN LIVING NEARBY WERE WARNED
Wife of Alleged Driver of Auto From Which Police Were Shot Last Week Said to Have Confessed.

By the Associated Press.
CHICAGO, May 17.—Police today searched for unexploded bombs believed to have been placed in a $500,000 apartment building in North Chicago, which was damaged by fire late last night. The police say the blaze was started by laborers in connection with the so-called Chicago labor war. Another development reported today was the confession, said by police to have been obtained yesterday from Mrs. Margaret Miller, wife of John Miller, now under arrest as the alleged driver of the automobile from which shots were fired, killing two policemen early last Wednesday in the labor feud.

Police connect the firing of the building with labor disorders through a man who warned two women in an adjoining building to escape before their building caught fire. One of these women, barely escaped assault when she attempted to question the man. After kicking at her he ran down the steps shouting, "To hell with the Landis award."

Two Factions of Workmen.
The force of 100 men employed in construction are divided in two classes, steamfitters and masons working under the Landis award, and carpenters and plumbers working under the old union scale.

That the fire was set, has been proved beyond doubt, police say. The questioning of Mrs. Miller, police say, brought a full confession from her in which the names of other occupants of the automobile were given and it is substantiated by a previous confession said to have been obtained from her husband.

Details of Confession.
Mrs. Miller is reported to have admitted caring for the occupants of the car, who were supposed to have been wounded by shots from the policemen's pistols. Mrs. Miller also admitted, police say, calling her to the door of her adjoining apartment. A new attempt will be made today to obtain the release of "Big Tim" Murphy, "Con" Shea, and "Frenchy" Blader, known as the big three in labor circles, who are now under indictment on a murder charge in connection with the slayings. Prosecutors are asking for the death penalty for the "big three," alleging that they are the "high-ups" who planned the attack on buildings which led to the slaying of the officers.

The apartment damaged last night is a seventy-apartment building at 7711 Sheridan Road.

"Get out, quick, the building is going to burn. You'll hear an explosion in a minute. To hell with the Landis award," the man shouted to Mrs. Corbett, then calling her to the door of her adjoining apartment. The warning was repeated to Mrs. Frances Choate in the same building.

PARIS, May 17.—The Allied Council of Ambassadors today granted permission to former Empress Zita of Austria-Hungary to leave Madeira, where Emperor Charles recently died in exile, and to go to Spain and remain there until her acquittal.

Appointments have been reserved for her in the Chateau Pardo, near Madrid.

AUTO DRIVER FINED $300
A fine of $300 today was imposed upon Robert O. Connors, 31 years old, an automobile salesman, whose automobile yesterday was in collision with fire apparatus of Engine Company No. 5 on Mullanphy street near Twenty-second street.

The apparatus was returning from a fire and its siren was being sounded. Connors said he didn't see the fire truck until a collision was unavoidable.

Hearst Going Away Privately In Order to Come Back Politically

Excursion Boats, Loaded With Zealous Partisans, Will Meet Him on Return Demanding He Run for Governorship.

By Leased Wire From the New York Bureau of the Post-Dispatch.
NEW YORK, May 17.—William R. Hearst will depart for Europe next Tuesday. He is going away to escape his boom for the governorship, not to be presented to King George at Buckingham Palace. He's going away, as one politician expressed it, "so that he can come back." And when he does return, he is to be met down the bay by excursion boats loaded to the gunwales with delegations of zealous Democrats from all parts of the State who are insistently demanding that he become their candidate.

For two months the editor-politician-movie magnate candidate is to be away. But William J. Conners of Buffalo, seasoned Democratic politician of the old school, is to inflate the Hearst boom during the interim. Everything is to be in readiness for the spontaneous demand of the people for Hearst as their political savior by the time he again sets foot on American soil. It all is understood to be part of a grand strategy to bring out the publisher for the Democratic nomination for the presidency in 1924.

Incidentally the promoters of the Hearst candidacy, now domiciled in the Hotel McAlpin, will be disappointed if the police boat John F. Hylan, carrying its namesake and members of his official family, doesn't figure as the flagship of the river craft that are to meet Hearst's returning ship. The Mayor indicated most positively yesterday how he feels about Hearst for the governorship. He said the mere mention of Hearst for the governorship has made the special interests tremble.

Conners announced yesterday that Hearst, accompanied by Mrs. Hearst, would leave New York rather precipitately on the Aquitania Tuesday with no news to Conners, who remarked he knew all along of Hearst's plans. "Will Mr. Hearst be presented to the King of England?" Conners was asked.

"Mr. Hearst," answered Conners, smiling, "is big enough to be presented to the King of England or of any other country."

"Is he going to England for that purpose?"

"Not at all," snapped Conners, "There's nothing to that. Mr. Hearst wants a rest. He wants to get the leisure and rest that he needs for his trip. He's going over mostly for the benefits he will get from the boat ride."

Conners issued a statement last night, saying that if Hearst were "not a candidate for the governorship," "public sentiment, which demands a fighter," will insist he take the nomination. The statement from the Buffalo Democrat was important in so far as it indicated the planks to be in the Hearst platform. They will be: High wages, increased employment, lower living expenses, lower gas, telephone, electric rates, and a five-cent fare and an inquiry designed to force down the cost of milk.

The closing session may be held Saturday or Monday.

The inviting Powers decided that the Eastern Gallic and Lithuanian boundary questions would not be considered at this time. Lloyd George declared that these two questions were a great source of danger to the peace of Europe, and whether there might be trouble this year or next, but the question must be treated eventually, although it was inadvisable to press consideration of them as there was probability of a truce. He hoped the Lithuanian question, which had been referred to the League of Nations, would be taken in hand by this body.

Bulgaria and Bulgaria were permitted to present petitions for better treatment of minorities. Bulgaria was not permitted to submit a statement pleading for a port on the Aegean Sea, as it was considered this was a question for consideration by the signatory of the treaty of Neuilly.

The Powers decided to have the conference make an urgent appeal to Europe to support the anti-epidemic campaign. A proposal to make the Red Cross the official machinery for dealing with famine and pestilence was deemed not a proper matter for the treaty conference to consider and was referred to the League of Nations.

M. Tchitcherine and Ishli Clash.
M. Tchitcherine's clash with Viscount Ishli yesterday morning at the conference in London, which resulted in a statement setting forth his side of the controversy, which was provoked by his declaration that Russia never would permit the Far Eastern Republic to be converted into a Japanese colony, and that Russia would protect it and all allied republics against foreign attack.

The discussion opened with the question of interpreting what "the present boundaries" meant in the proposed agreement for The Hague meeting, in which the Powers agreed to preserve the existing status quo. Tchitcherine said that the proposed agreement referred only to Russia, but he wished it to be understood that Japan was forced to keep troops in Siberia to protect herself against measures which had resulted in many deaths on both sides.

Tchitcherine hotly discussed the Dairen conference, in which he said the Japanese representatives made much of this deplorable Nikolaiev incident and used it as a pretext to demand the annexation of Northern Sakhalin by Japan. He also declared that the Japanese representatives had made the evacuation of Vladivostok contingent upon complete dismantling of all fortifications.

At this point President Faiva interceded and suggested that the discussion was not serving any practical purpose of the Genoa conference. Tchitcherine summed up his statement that any attack on any republic in Russia could automatically bring about a state of war with Russia.

Japan Regrets U. S. Refusal.
Japan's regret over the refusal of the United States to accept an invitation to participate in The Hague conference was expressed in a statement by Viscount Ishli today. "Reconstruction cannot be accomplished unless Russia resumes its place in the council of civilized nations and without the assistance of the United States, which alone possesses material riches and capital capable of bringing about this reconstruction," said the statement. "The Japanese delegation regrets the American refusal, which will prevent The Hague conference from hearing all its fruit."

INQUEST INTO MURDER OF BANK WATCHMAN BEGUN

Hearing in Case of Henry Ahring, Shot on Street Car by Robbers, Continued to Tomorrow.

FUNERAL TO BE HELD SATURDAY AFTERNOON
Associated Bankers Offer Reward of $1000 Each for Arrest and Conviction of Robbers.

The Coroner's inquest into the murder of Henry Ahring, watchman for the Bremen Bank, on a Broadway street yesterday, by robbers who took $2000 from a messenger for whom Ahring was escort, was begun today, and was continued until tomorrow, for the summoning of further witnesses.

The funeral of Ahring, who was a former policeman, will be held Saturday at 3 p. m. from Salvatore Evangelical Church, 5268 Plover avenue, and will be attended by Masonic bodies of which he was a member. He was married and lived at 5368 Emerson avenue.

The Associated Bankers have offered a reward of $1000 for information leading to the arrest and conviction of any one of the robbers, up to a total of $5000, the first belief being that there were five, including the driver of the car in which they escaped. Testimony at the inquest accounted for not more than four of the five.

Bank Also Offers Reward.
The Bremen Bank, 3600 North Broadway, today offered a reward of $500 each, up to $2000 in all, for information leading to the arrest and conviction of any one of the robbers, up to a total of $5000, the first belief being that there were five, including the driver of the car in which they escaped. Testimony at the inquest accounted for not more than four of the five.

The messenger, William H. Goedeke, testified that, as he rode yesterday, he heard only one shot, and that this was fired by one of the robbers before anything had been said to him or Ahring, and before his attention had been attracted to the robbers. This indicated that the robbers were shot down in cold blood and without warning.

Testimony of Car Crew.
The testimony of the motorman, W. R. Bryan, and the conductor, L. G. Hansen, was that they heard two shots on the car. They could not say whether both shots were fired by the robber. One exploded shell was found in Ahring's revolver, and the police have thus far been unable to determine positively that Ahring did not fire at the robbers, though it was thought more likely that the empty shell had been in the revolver all the time. Ahring, as a former policeman, was familiar with the custom of keeping an empty chamber in a revolver. Ahring's only wound, which caused death within three hours, was in the forehead.

The motorman told of obeying the order of one of the robbers to stop the car and open the front door. He thought this man had been on the car all the way from some downtown point, but he could not be positive as to this. Some man had been standing behind the motorman. The robber, as described by the motorman, was about 25 years old, with blue shirt, dark suit and dark cap. He looked at the driver of the machine, but said this man had a handkerchief in his mouth, covering his chin.

The conductor testified that two of the robbers got out at the rear door, and he said they were youthful and fairly well dressed.

Passenger Heard Two Shots.
F. A. Kad again when on examination of Luehrs, Leforge brought out that the witness understood that deposits in the Grant Park Bank were secured by proper collateral which Gov. Small told him was held at Chicago, that the Governor and Sterling during their terms as State Treasurer, paid in more than $700,000 interest, presumably on these deposits, and that the witness believed the interest received from the Grant Park Bank was at the same rate as paid by other banks using State money.

Testimony Stricken Out.
The Governor's attorneys won the first skirmish when they succeeded in having stricken out of the record testimony of two employees of the State Treasurer's office. They had testified they knew nothing about the "safe account," which the State claims was synonymous with the Grant Park Bank, alleged to be a fictitious and non-existent institution. Judge Edwards not only ordered the testimony erased from the record, but barred similar testimony by other employees of the Treasurer's office who had been subpoenaed.

The defense scored again when on examination of Luehrs, Leforge brought out that the witness understood that deposits in the Grant Park Bank were secured by proper collateral which Gov. Small told him was held at Chicago, that the Governor and Sterling during their terms as State Treasurer, paid in more than $700,000 interest, presumably on these deposits, and that the witness believed the interest received from the Grant Park Bank was at the same rate as paid by other banks using State money.

The Trustees Fellowship Association of St. Louis will hold luncheon at the M. A. A. next Saturday to discuss the proposed teachers' shutdown project.

INTEREST RECEIPTS CAUSE OF CLASH AT GOV. SMALL'S TRIAL

Jury Excused While Attorneys Argued Over Admission of Testimony by Assistant State Treasurer.

DEFENSE SCORES POINTS AT TRIAL
Session at Waukegan Largely Devoted to the Introduction of Documentary Evidence.

By the Associated Press.
WAUKEGAN, ILL., May 17.—Opposing counsel in the trial of Gov. Small broke the monotony of a day devoted to the introduction of dull documentary evidence, when they clashed at the bar before Judge Edwards over the admission of testimony by Harry C. Luehrs, Assistant State Treasurer, relative to the amount of interest received by Treasurer Edward E. Miller, when he collected deposits made by his predecessor, Fred E. Sterling, now Lieutenant-Governor.

The defense won the skirmish when Judge Edwards refused to let the witness answer questions put by Assistant Attorney-General Wilkerson concerning Miller's action in calling in the Sterling deposits. The jury was excused while the opposing attorneys argued.

Tide Is Turned.
The tide turned almost immediately, however, when Charles E. Leforge, chief of the defense counsel, was interrupted in attempting to draw from the witness testimony dealing with the creation of a fund from which deposits were made with Dunlap, Russell & Co., bankers at Jacksonville, Ill.

Judge Edwards told attorneys that they should confine their questions to matters strictly in relation to the terms of Gov. Small and Lieutenant-Governor Sterling in the State Treasurer's office. The jury was excused while the attorneys argued.

Attorney Leforge began by questioning Luehrs about securities in the Treasurer's office.

Luehrs testified that at the beginning of Small's term as State Treasurer, in 1917, vault space was very limited and there was not sufficient room for all the collateral and securities of the office.

The vault space was enlarged during Small's regime, Luehrs said. James H. Wilkerson, Assistant Attorney-General, repeatedly objected to Leforge's line of questioning.

Many credit interest and deposit slips and pages from records in the State Treasurer's office were offered in evidence during the examination of Luehrs this afternoon.

During the term of Lieutenant-Governor Sterling as Treasurer, the Governor Sterling National Bank of Chicago paid 2 per cent interest on State funds deposited with it, Luehrs testified. Previous testimony had disclosed the prevailing rate of interest, which the State received on the public funds to have been 2 per cent.

Gov. Small won two rulings over the protests of the prosecution yesterday in his right to disprove the charges of the State that he conspired to embezzle State funds.

INCINERATOR CONTRACT MADE
The Board of Public Service yesterday awarded a contract to the Chicago Incinerating Co. of Chicago to construct an 80-ton unit garbage incinerator at the foot of Chouteau avenue. The contract price was $59,812.

The bids of the Superior Garbage Co. of Dallas, Tex., $68,785, and of the Vulcan Incinerator Co., $60,855, were lower, but President Kinsey of the Board of Public Service said the Chicago company was the only one of the bidders which had a plant in operation incinerating material of the same character as in St. Louis, and recommended the acceptance of the higher bid rather than to take a chance on experimenting with one of the other types of plants. The specifications call for the completion of the plant in six weeks.

COMMENT OF BRITISH PRESS ON U. S. STAND

"We Cannot Blame America for Holding Aloof," Says Westminster Gazette.

By the Associated Press.
LONDON, May 17.—The importance attached in England to America's attitude toward Europe's affairs is indicated by the prominence given in today's newspapers to the text of Secretary Hughes' note declining the invitation to the proposed conference with the Russians at The Hague. The later explanation from the White House that the note was intended to leave the door open for further conversation, attracts less attention than Hughes' communication.

The Westminster Gazette, assuming that the American reply is a final refusal of the invitation to The Hague, says this is a very much less surprising than was the report to the contrary previously published.

While regretting the American attitude, the newspaper adds: "Many people here are inclined to exaggerate the intrinsic importance of American participation in the settlement of Europe. It is not and never was either necessary or practicable that America should continue to play a leading part in the politics of Europe, but from the British standpoint her presence at Genoa, The Hague or any other European conference, would be exceedingly welcome, since it would give overwhelming moral preponderance to that broad policy of peace and international economic co-operation on which Great Britain stands."

"We cannot, however, blame America for holding aloof, and it is not certain that in the long run her abstention will not prove to have been the wisest policy from our own point of view, as well as from hers."

CRACKSMEN GET $1000 FROM DAIRY SAFE

Manager of East St. Louis Concern Reports Combination Had Been Knocked Off Strongbox.

Burglars obtained between $1000 and $1100 last night from a safe in the office of the St. Clair Dairy Co., Thirtieth street and Illinois avenue, East St. Louis.

They forced a window and knocked the combination from the safe. Discovery of the burglary was made at 3 a. m. today when the manager, C. C. Solomon, arrived to superintend morning deliveries.

Safe Taken From First Floor to Cellar Robbed of $557.
Burglars in the office of the Strauss and Biederman Commission Co., 1129 North Third street, rolled a safe from the first floor to the basement where they chiseled off the hinges and combination, and took $557 from the cash drawer.

Joseph Biederman, a member of the firm, discovered the burglary at 1 a. m. today, when he opened the safe. He told the police the thieves apparently had climbed a telephone pole in the rear to a second floor window, and had gotten in through the window.

GAS WELT FLAMES FINALLY ARE PUT OUT BY CRATER CAVE-IN
By the Associated Press.
EL DORADO, Ark., May 17.—Caving of the walls of the huge crater at the top of the Murphy gas well, eight miles north of here, early today extinguished the flames that have been shooting hundreds of feet into the air since Monday night when friction set fire to a small geyser near the well.

Sand still is being thrown into the air by the well, which is estimated to have been making more than 75,000,000 cubic feet a day when it caught fire. It was believed this morning, however, that further caving soon will choke the flow of gas entirely.

Flames from the burning well last night were leaping 300 feet into the air, and the roar could be heard for miles. Sand emitted from the well was carried by the wind to a great distance.

WILLS OF 32 YEARS' QUARREL WITH HUSBAND

Mrs. Margaret Feuerstein Describes Married Life at Inquest; Verdict Is Accident.

Mrs. Margaret Feuerstein, 40 years old, today related to a coroner's jury how her husband, Edward Feuerstein, 58, had quarreled with her and abused her throughout the 32 years of their married life, until he shot and killed him in the kitchen, 3325 Lincoln avenue, last Monday afternoon. A verdict of accident was returned after she had made her statement. It was her privilege not to make a statement unless she chose to.

Mrs. Feuerstein declared that the shotgun with which she had armed herself for fear her husband would attack her with an ice pick he had bought, was discharged accidentally. She was trying to get out of the house and away from him. Feuerstein was a motorman on the National Bellows line.

Wife's Version of Killing. Mrs. Feuerstein's version of the shooting, as related at the inquest, followed.

My husband came home Monday evening and started quarreling with me about a little paring knife. He provoked me by the throat and choke. Then he twisted my wrists and I fought all over the house. Finally he went out to the store, picked up an icepick and putting it in his pocket as he went.

I was afraid he would hurt me when he returned, so I got my son's shotgun. When he came back I said to me with a pick and I said, "Don't come near me or I'll kill you." I kept following me around. I told the gun was loaded. I kept backing away toward the kitchen door.

I was afraid to turn my back to him, so I thought if I could get in the yard I would be safe.

His arm was raised up, with the pick in his hand. When I got near the door my arm bumped a table and the shotgun was discharged.

Mrs. Feuerstein told Deputy Coroner Dever she had put a shell in the gun, but that she had never fired a gun before.

Sons Testify of Quarrel. Without going into great details, she told of frequent quarrels with her husband, and said he had always told her he was going to kill her some day. She said he didn't choke her often. Her sons, Edward Jr., 18, and Cletus, 14, who were not home when their father was shot, testified about frequent quarrels between their parents.

Feuerstein was 5'8" tall and weighed 150 pounds. A neighbor testified that he had seen Feuerstein leaving the house with the ice pick. Feuerstein was married in New York.

While Quarrel With Husband

Margaret Feuerstein Describes Married Life at Inquest; Verdict Is Accident.

Mrs. Margaret Feuerstein, 48 years old, today related to a Coroner's jury how her husband, Edward Feuerstein, 59, had quarreled with her and abused her throughout the 17 years of their married life, until he shot and killed him in their home, 2826 Lincoln avenue, last Sunday afternoon. A verdict of accident was returned after she had made her statement. It was her statement that she had not made a statement when she chose to.

Mrs. Feuerstein declared that the shotgun with which she had armed herself, for fear her husband would harm her with an ice pick he had, was discharged accidentally when she was trying to get out of the house and away from him. Feuerstein was a motorman on the Natural Bridge line.

Wife's Version of Killing.
Mrs. Feuerstein's version of the killing, as related at the inquest, follows:

My husband came home Monday night and started quarreling with me about a little paring knife. He told me by the throat and choked me. Then he twisted my wrists and my fingers are still sore. He thought all over the house. I thought he was going to the store, picking up an icepick and putting it in his pocket as he went.

I was afraid he would hurt me when he returned, so I got my son's shotgun. When he came back he told me with a pick and I said, 'Don't come near me or I'll kill you.' I kept following me around. I told the gun was loaded. I kept backing away toward the kitchen door. I was afraid to turn my back to him. I thought if I could get in the yard I would be safe.

Without going into great detail, he told of frequent quarrels with his father, and said he had always told her he was going to kill her one day. She said he didn't choke her often. Her sons, Edward Jr., and Cletus, 16, who were not home when their father was shot, testified about frequent quarrels between their parents. Feuerstein was six feet tall and weighed 180 pounds.

A neighbor testified that he had seen Feuerstein leaving the house with the ice pick. Feuerstein was seen in the abdomen. There is a married daughter in New York.

3 OF 5 PAYROLL ROBBERS SLIP THROUGH LINES OF POSSEMEN

Springfield (Mo.) Holdup Men Believed to Have Obtained Auto From Farmer.
By the Associated Press.
SPRINGFIELD, Mo., May 17.—Three of the robbers who last Monday morning held up a bank messenger here and escaped with a portion of the St. Louis & San Francisco Railroad Co.'s payroll amounting to $20,500, last night slipped through the lines of possemen and National Guardsmen and escaped.

The men are said to have obtained an automobile from a farmer, Will Parrish, near Decaturville, Camden County, together with provisions sufficient to last them for three days. The men are thought to be headed toward Pacific, in the direction of St. Louis.

The posse in the vicinity of Lebanon has disbanded, and only a few searchers remain in the hills along the Niantica River, today. Two of the five men supposed to have been in the party sighted near Lebanon are unaccounted for.

The automobile stolen from Parrish was found abandoned about seven miles east of Linn Creek, county seat of Camden County. The robbers took to the hills afoot to avoid possemes approaching from Decaturville on one side and Linn Creek on the other.

Accused Youth Released.
Raymond Brueckner, 19 years old, was released from the Clayton jail yesterday, where he had been held since Sunday night following his arrest on complaint of officials of the Peerless Laundry Co., 2139 Clark avenue, who said Brueckner had failed to account for $600 of the firm's money which he had collected. Brueckner formerly drove a delivery wagon for the laundry. He was married two weeks ago. John Brueckner, the youth's father, turned over to the laundry a sum to make up the amount alleged to have been taken by the young man and the complaint of the firm was withdrawn.

How to Make Pineapple Jelly

Takes Only Ten Minutes to Make Delicious Jelly From Juice Usually Thrown Away.

By Ann Proctor.

Don't throw away the juice from canned pineapples, cherries, etc. You can easily make the most delicious pure fruit jelly in ten minutes without fruit. Put three cups of juice and 5/8 heaping cups of sugar in the saucepan and bring to a boil, then add one cup (one bottle) of Certo while stirring. Stir constantly and bring to a boil again for half a minute; remove from fire, cool slightly, skim and pour into glasses and let it set. As these juices are usually thrown away the actual cost of these pure fruit jellies is less than six cents for a half-pound of Certo. This is a half-pound of Certo, not a whole pound. Get a bottle of Certo at once from your grocer or drugist and book in telling you how to make the wonderful "Certo Process" jams and jellies. Peaches, cherries, strawberries, rhubarb, etc., in ten minutes without fruit. The recipe will be sent if you write, Post-Dispatch, 1133 Grand Ave., Room 200, St. Louis, Missouri. The name "Certo," the pure fruit product that has taken all the uncertainty out of making jams and jellies, and saves all the flavor and color of the fruit instead of boiling it away.

Operation Not Successful

"10 years ago I was operated for appendicitis and later operated again for gall stones. Neither did me any good and I suffered all kinds of torture since. Five years ago I took Mayr's Wonderful Remedy and have felt no symptoms or pain since. All stomach sufferers should take it." "CITADEL OF DAVID IS A RUBBISH HEAP"

Agent of Palestine Government, In U. S. for Aid, Tells of Plan to Preserve Holy City.

By Leased Wire of the New York Bureau of the Post-Dispatch.
NEW YORK, May 17.—"The citadel of David is a rubbish heap, the gardens of Jerusalem are unenclosed, the walls of the city are crumbling. Jerusalem 'with all its historic grandeur' should not be permitted to remain in this neglected condition."

This statement was made Monday by E. Keith-Roach, F. R. G. S. first assistant chief secretary to the Government of Palestine, who is staying at the Hotel Biltmore on his trip to the United States in the interests of the Pro-Jerusalem Society.

"My object in coming to the United States is to raise the money for the preservation of the establishment of the Pro-Jerusalem Society," said Keith-Roach. "First, because America has shown a very practical interest in the Near East by its relief work; secondly, I wish to put before America the objects of the Pro-Jerusalem Society; and thirdly, I wish to learn from my visit to America something of your spirit of organization and executive ability."

Town Planning Scheme.
"The objects of the society as defined in its charter are the preservation and advancement of the interests of Jerusalem, especially the protection and maintenance of parks and open spaces, the establishment of museums, libraries and art galleries, and the preservation with the consent of the Government of the antiquities in the district of Jerusalem."

"We have started a town planning scheme which includes the improvement of the old city within the city walls, the medieval aspect of which is to be preserved and the drawing of a survey around the old city with a view to new buildings are to be built."

Ban on Advertising.
"An advertising ordinance has been passed which only allows advertisements within certain areas. In this way beautiful sections will not be ruined by advertisements of milk-maids and cows or patent medicines."

"The reservoirs that Solomon built two miles south of Bethlehem, which had been filled up, have been reopened, and Jerusalem has now a water supply coming through viaducts built centuries before the Christian era."

"There is no gas or electricity in Jerusalem at present, but a concession has been granted a company to exploit the water of the Yarmuk River which connects with the River Jordan just south of the Sea of Galilee."

HERRICK, STRAPPED TO PLANE, DOES STUNTS OVER CAPITAL
Oklahoma's Congressman in Rage When Air Service Wouldn't Let Him Do the Piloting.
Special to the Post-Dispatch.

WASHINGTON, May 17.—Representative Mann H. Herrick, of Oklahoma, viewed the beauties of Washington in several new poses late yesterday and with some degree of disappointment, not, however, of quite the same character as on the occasion of his famous beauty contest.

His disappointment grew out of the fact that officers of the air service at Bolling Field refused to risk an airplane with him to pilot according to his own notions. They required that he be strapped securely to his seat and sent Lieut. L. J. Maitland as pilot. Herrick turned, somewhat over the capital, nose-dived, loop-spinned and otherwise did death-taking "stunts"—but he was bound in tight all the while.

The gentleman from Oklahoma was in a rage when he was told that the air service had no "stunt plane" he could run himself. He talked about making a speech of denunciation from the floor of the House.

HAS BEARD 11 FEET LONG; ROLLS IT UP WHEN AT WORK
Nevada Man Will Get $50 a Day While Attending Sacramento Celebration.
By the Associated Press.

SACRAMENTO, Cal., May 17.—Claims of J. J. Tanner, Brighton, Mich., to the world's long-whiskered championship, are disputed by Jack Wilcox of Carson, Nev., who has been growing a beard since Dec. 31, 1881, when he threw away his razor, because it was dull, and swore he never would shave again. His beard is 11 feet 3 inches long, but before it was combed and washed recently it was 14 feet long. Tanner's beard has been reported as 9 feet long.

The County Surveyor at Carson recently measured the Wilcox beard when the latter was entered in the long-whiskered contest being conducted by the Boys of '49 Celebration here, May 23-28. Unless someone comes along with a longer beard, Wilcox will receive a gold medal, $50 a day and expenses while in Sacramento attending the celebration.

Wilcox is a stone mason and when at work he rolls up his beard and carries it in a sack under his shirt.

FOR VALOR BEYOND DUTY'S CALL

Medal Given California Marshal

Who Attacks Night Riders.

By the Associated Press.

LOS ANGELES, May 17.—Frank T. Woerner, night marshal of Inglewood, near here, was presented yesterday with a medal sent here by citizens of Dallas, Tex., "for valor in face of odds beyond the call of duty," evidenced April 22 in his attacking, single handed, a mob of several hundred disguised men and shooting and killing Constable Mosher and wounding two deputies, while allegedly they were defending the night riders against arrest.

MAN WHO SHOT GUERIN IN U. S. TO 'BEGIN ANEW'

"Charles Smith," Whose Pardon Was Obtained by Lady Astor, Not From Virginia.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.
NEW YORK, May 17.—The mysterious Charles Smith, who 15 years ago shot Eddie Guerin in London, following a quarrel over a woman of the underworld, "Chicago May" Churchill, arrived home yesterday on the Majestic, after serving 15 years in Dartmoor prison for the shooting of Guerin.

Smith was sentenced to penal servitude for life for his attempt upon the life of Guerin. Guerin was only slightly wounded, the bullet breaking a couple of small bones in his foot.

Lady Astor Wins Pardon.
In view of the slight injury to Guerin, several attempts have been made to have Smith pardoned. Last July, when an appeal for mercy in Smith's behalf was made, the British Home Secretary refused to pardon him.

In some manner word reached Lady Astor, the only woman member of the British Parliament, that Smith came from a deserving Southern family. Lady Astor is a native of Virginia and she became interested in Smith, who left America in 1899 to go to South Africa. He finally drifted to London, where he came upon "Chicago May," who at the time was Eddie Guerin's sweetheart and had helped Guerin in his raid upon the funds of the American Express Co. in Paris. Guerin was sent to Devil's Island, but escaped from there.

When reporters found Smith in the third cabin of the Majestic he revealed his true identity on the pledge that it would be withheld from the public.

"Hope to Begin Anew."
"I am through with the crooked life," he said. "I am going straight now. Just let me go on as Charles Smith. I am a carpenter by trade and am going within a few days to Abingdon, Va., where I hope to begin life anew."

Smith told reporters his home address. It is not Virginia, as has been indicated. It was cabled from London that Lady Astor's interest in getting the pardon for Smith was because he was of an old Virginia family. Smith, however, comes from a state not far from Virginia.

"I will never carry a gun again during my life and I hope I never see England again," Smith said.

WORLD'S GREATEST STEAMSHIP EASILY DOCKED AT NEW YORK

Majestic, Formerly the German Owned Bismarck, Averages 22 Knots on First Trip Westward.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.
NEW YORK, May 17.—The world's greatest steamship, the Majestic of the White Star Line, docked at 4:22 p. m. yesterday. The outstanding feature of the arrival was the ease with which the great liner—54,000 tons—was handled. She answered promptly and well every call made on her. It required only 24 minutes to warp the great bulk into her slip after she was aboard the pierhead, remarkable time for a ship of her size, an anchor gently pushed in a small section of the dockhouse of the pier.

When she dropped her great mud hook—she carried three bow anchors—the incoming tide swung the vessel about until she was headed to sea again. She remained in that position until she was released from Quarantine, and with the aid of one tug she swung about in her own length. It was a daring bit of marine maneuvering for a ship of her size, the channel at that point being less than half a mile wide.

The ocean passage on her first westward trip was 5 days, 14 hours and 45 minutes, at an average speed of 22.69 knots an hour.

The best daily average was made May 12, when the ship logged 594 miles in a following sea. The skipper, Capt. Sir Bertram Fox Hayes, once was a cabin boy on a British marine maneuvering for a ship of her size, the channel at that point being less than half a mile wide.

A SURE WAY TO END DANDRUFF

There is one sure way that has never failed to remove dandruff at once, and that is to dissolve it, then you destroy it entirely. To do this, just get about four ounces of plain, common liquid arvon from any drug store (this is all you will need), apply it at night when retiring; use enough to moisten the scalp and rub it in gently with the finger tips.

By morning, most if not all, of your dandruff will be gone, and three or four more applications will completely dissolve and entirely destroy every single sign and trace of it, no matter how much dandruff you may have.

You will find all itching and digging of the scalp will stop instantly, and your hair will be fluffy, lustrous, glossy, silky and soft, and look and feel a hundred times better.

ONE OF BEATTYS DESCRIBES KILLING IN COAL OFFICE

Testifies, in Murder Trial, That Shots Followed General Fight in Which Board and Poker Were Used.

The story of the stockholders' meeting of the Beatty Coal Co., at Mascoutah, Ill., on Feb. 22, 1921, at which Otto J. Klingens, wealthy coal operator of Belleville, and George Beatty were shot and killed, was related in Circuit Court at Belleville today by Nephi Beatty, who with his brothers, Dr. James and John Beatty, are on trial for murder. They are being tried at this time for the murder of Klingens.

Nephi Beatty's testimony was substantially as follows: The coal mine company originally was controlled by six Beatty brothers and two sisters. In 1913 Klingens bought the interest of the two sisters and a brother who was absent from the section. Shortly afterwards Roland and George Beatty and Klingens wrested control from Dr. James, Nephi and John Beatty, and ill-feeling resulted.

Dispute Over Price of Coal. After Roland Beatty, who has been one of the chief witnesses against his three brothers, had called the Feb. 22 meeting to order, Nephi and John complained that they had been charged 15 cents a bushel for coal when, they said, they should have been charged only 7 cents, which was the miners' pay. Klingens moved that they be given a rebate, but George objected, saying that the miners' pay had been increased. Nephi retorted that there was no scale and complained that George was drawing $300 a month, whereas the usual pay for a mine engineer was $218. "There was argument also over the fact that Klingens as vice president was getting that George had told him Klingens asked how long he had been drawing $25 a month also and James said $25 a month. Nephi and James was getting nothing. George called James 'a damned liar' and James retorted that he was lying. George jumped up and struck at James across John's shoulder, but missed him. Roland struck at James also, but missed, grazing John. George reached down and picked up a board, on which he had been sitting, to strike at James. Nephi testified that at this juncture there was a shot.

Heard Second Shot. Klingens picked up a poker which James had been toying with through the meeting and which he had dropped, and struck at James. There was another shot. Nephi testified, but declared at no time did he see a pistol in James' hand. He said he saw Roland, who had run out, start back with a board in his hand, but drop it. He said George came out holding his hand over his stomach and he told a mine employee to get a doctor, after which he fled.

Mrs. Laura Klingens, widow of Klingens, repeated what she said was her husband's dying account of the stockholders' meeting. It follows:

The meeting opened and a wrangle began. Then James Beatty hit Roland over the head with a poker, and I said, 'Boys, don't do that.' Roland ran outside, and James shot first George and then me."

"What in the world did you do to James to cause him to shoot you?" Mrs. Klingens said she asked.

"I didn't do anything at all," was her husband's reply.

Said Victim Had No Weapons. Mrs. Klingens testified that there were no weapons in her husband's clothes when he was removed. Other witnesses corroborated this. Mrs. Theresa Beatty, widow of George Beatty, was put on the stand to show that Roland Beatty had nothing in his hands when he fled from the mine wash house, where the meeting was held.

Peter Gaedener, a Deputy Coroner and embalmer, who assisted at the autopsy, and Dr. Hugh Harold testified that the pistol bullet entered Klingens' right breast and lodged near the left hip joint. The State has contended that Klingens was sitting down, but defense attorneys told reporters yesterday that they expected to show that Klingens was bending over and striking at Dr. James Beatty with a store poker when he was shot. George had seized a board as a weapon, they will assert.

Dr. Harold said that John Beatty, to whose home Klingens was first taken, assisted in caring for him. Roland Beatty, recalled by the defense, denied that he had told acquaintances that John and Nephi had nothing to do with the shooting and that if it had not been for John, he himself would have been fired on by James.

GROOMING OF REALTY PROVIDED FOR IN WILL

William V. Burton Cautions Trustees to See That Real Estate Left Is Kept in Repair

The will of William V. Burton, who following 1882 made a fortune in excess of $250,000 by the operation of 10-cent lodging houses for workmen, contains the following admonition to his trustee, the St. Louis Union Trust Co.:

"My long experience in the management of real estate prompts me to suggest to the trustee that I always found it advisable upon the removal of a tenant to procure the services of a reliable man or woman to go to the vacated premises with broom, hammer, mop, duster and wash cloth and to thoroughly clean the premises, remove every nail from the floors or walls, mopping the place very clean, painting the floor and walls and having a carpenter repair all places in need, insert new sash cords and replace all broken glass, overhaul all electric wiring and stop all roof leaks."

Cautious Estate Trustee.

"I have always found that real estate agents are not diligent in keeping premises in order, and that money is lost if the premises are neglected. I caution the trustee to deal with my real estate as much as possible in the manner indicated."

The will commands that the trustee maintain the family home at 5892 Cabanne avenue for the widow, Geneva M. Burton, and that she be paid $200 a month. Burton's sons, Walter P. and William W., are to receive $50 a month during the life of their mother. At her death the estate is to be divided equally between them.

Sister Is Remembered.

A payment of $50 a month is to be made to Burton's sister, Martha V. Burton and a bequest of $1000 to a son of Edward L. Ogilvie of St. Paul is made.

Burton was 80 years old at the time of his unexpected death, May 9. He was made bankrupt in 1882 by high water that destroyed his Mississippi plantation interest and, coming to St. Louis, opened a lodging house for workmen. Subsequently, he had as many as nine of these lodging houses in operation at one time. It was said that he never turned away any man from his places because of a lack of money.

ELEPHANT ON 30-MILE RAMPAGE FLATTENS FENCES AND TREES

Capsize Automobiles, Tears Up Poles, Tries to Push Over Northwestern Farmer's Home.

By the Associated Press.

TACOMA, Wash., May 17.—Tusko, described as the largest elephant in captivity, reported peacefully consuming his fodder at Bellingham, Wash., today, after an afternoon, night and morning of rampage that stretched for 30 miles from Sedro Woolley, Wash.

Tusko hurled his keeper, H. Hendrickson, 20 feet in the air. Several of Hendrickson's ribs were broken. Tusko proceeded through the streets of Sedro Woolley, capsize three automobiles and turning a dance into a riot. He then headed for the hills. Flattened fences and trees told the story, and reports from excited farmers and loggers along the line of flight added details. At one logging camp Tusko uprooted three telephone poles. Looking out of an upper story window, a farmer and his family gazed upon the elephant's mighty back, hunched in a fortunately unsuccessful effort to overturn the entire structure. A barn proved less staunch and, after breaking it, Tusko ate his fill and then proceeded onward.

At dark, Monday, several hundred pursuers were forced to halt and all spent the night in the woods, taking up the trail at daybreak yesterday. Sauntering up to two other elephants that had been included among his pursuers, Tusko meekly permitted his recapture.

FISH, LIKE HUMAN BEINGS, GO ON HONEYMOONS, SPEAKER SAYS

Correspondence of the Associated Press.

HONOLULU, T. H., April 24.—Fish, like human beings, go on honeymoons immediately after marriage, but their trips are an annual affair, N. L. Kelly, Territorial Fish and Game Commissioner, told an audience here. Moreover, the placid marriage tours date back perhaps hundreds of thousands of years, probably long before the practice was in vogue among human beings, he said.

"Along in October and November fish in Hawaiian waters begin brightening up their scales and polishing their markings so that the spots stand out more distinctly, and they take on extra weight until they have a much more graceful and symmetrical appearance," he said.

"Then the vast happy couples start forming in line in late November or early December in a wedding march off to the honeymoon spawning grounds. And this migration, as far as I know, is true of fish families over all the world. Anyhow, they do move, maybe only a few hundred feet, or it may be thousands of miles. They may make a complete change from fresh water to salt or from ocean into fresh water."

Verdict for $25,000 Damages.

Henry Hoefler, 28 years old, of Chesterfield, Mo., was awarded $25,000 damages by a jury in Circuit Judge Wurdeman's court at Clayton yesterday for injuries suffered Oct. 5, last, when a ditch in which he was working for the West St. Louis Water and Light Co., on the Olive Street road near Creve Coeur, caved in. He sued for $119,000. Two men were killed in the cave-in.

FEEBLE-MINDED OFTEN SUCCESS, SAYS EXPERT

Dr. Walter E. Fernald, Discoverer of "Intelligence Quotient," Here for Meeting.

A high degree of intelligence is not a prime requisite for a successful, happy life. So long as one has other attributes, such as loyalty, perseverance and industry, one need not have a highly developed mind to achieve material success.

Dr. Walter E. Fernald, discoverer of the "intelligence quotient," by which the minds of persons may be classified according to the degrees of intelligence they represent, made these observations yesterday during an interview with a reporter for the Post-Dispatch. He is an international authority on the training of feeble-minded, by which the stunted talents of such persons may be most highly developed, and is superintendent of the Massachusetts School for the Feeble-Minded, at Waverly, Mass. He is in St. Louis to attend the convention of the American Association for the Study of the Feeble-Minded, which will open tomorrow at Hotel Claridge, and of which he is a councillor.

Traits of Feeble-Minded. "I have known feeble-minded young men and women who have gone much farther in their careers than would have been expected," Dr. Fernald said. "Of course, most often their success is a purely material one, for it is not very often among this type that appreciation of other things is found."

"Among such persons, however, are traits of industry and perseverance which can be trained and developed and which do a great deal, in after life, toward making of those who receive this training, successful people. Take one of the graduating classes of my school, for instance. There were 160 boys in it whose minds ran from classifications comparable with those of average 6-year-old children to the minds of average 12-year-old children. These boys now are out in the world, working regularly, and their combined salaries last year aggregated $130,000. Some of them are skilled mechanics, others do various kinds of work where great trust and confidence are placed in them and, of course, there are some who do very ordinary kinds of work."

Easy Prey to Vicious Habits. Dr. Fernald pointed out that more than 25 per cent of the criminals come from the ranks of the feeble-minded and told how such persons, without proper training, may fall easy prey to vicious habits and practices.

"Usually a gang is composed mainly of feeble-minded men, with a clever leader at their head," Dr. Fernald continued. "Most often it is the feeble-minded members of such an organization who do the most desperate things, for they do not realize the possible outcome of what they do, nor do they seem to care for the consequences."

"Had these men received training in their childhood, such as is given most feeble-minded children now, their stamina could have been built up and their characters strengthened, so that they would have abhorred crime and criminal associates. But after a man is matured there is little hope of reforming him."

Dr. Fernald, during his stay in the city, has been visiting the special schools here where children who are backward in their studies are taught. He said the system and equipment for such work here are the best he has seen in any city.

Patience Necessary. "About 3 per cent of the school children, it has been shown, have minds that fall below a rating of 70 per cent, putting them in the feeble-minded class," Dr. Fernald continued. "It takes these children several years to achieve in their studies what children with average minds achieve in one year, and great patience must be used in teaching them."

"Of course, the native intelligence of the children cannot be increased, but it can be made the most of. And, after all, there is a place in the world for the feeble-minded. It falls to the lot of these unfortunate to do the roughest work of the world, which is just as essential to progress as other kinds of work, and thus they are valuable to the scheme of things. At least, the training they receive prevents them from being useless idlers and a destructive element in society and makes of them useful citizens."

The "intelligence quotient," of which Dr. Fernald is the discoverer, is used to classify minds after their degree of intelligence has been discovered by set tests. If a 10-year-old child has a 10-year-old mind that child is given a mental rating of 100 per cent. Should a 10-year-old child have a 5-year-old mind, however, a rating of 50 per cent is given, and so on.

Auto Driver Fined on Two Charges. Howard Gillian of 913 Clinton street, a barber, whose automobile was pursued by police yesterday under the suspicion that it might carry persons implicated in the killing of Henry Ahrens, watchman for the Breckenridge Bank and the robbery of a bank messenger of the bank on a Broadway street car, was fined $10 for speeding and $10 for careless driving, in police court today. Gillian testified that he was accompanying a funeral from East St. Louis, but lost it and was speeding to overtake it. He did not know whose funeral he was attending, he said. Policemen testified he drove as fast as 38 miles an hour along West Florissant avenue before he stopped in response to shots from their revolvers.

She could eat anything— without indigestion or sleeplessness

FOR a long time she had been troubled with gas after her evening meal. The distress was most painful after eating potatoes or other starchy foods, of which she was very fond.

Then she started taking two cakes of Fleischmann's Yeast every night between her evening meal and bedtime. She poured about a half cup of boiling hot water over the yeast cakes, stirred them thoroughly, added a little cold water and drank.

She found she could eat anything and sleep splendidly afterward.

Thousands of men and women are finding that Fleischmann's Yeast corrects stomach and intestinal troubles. It promotes the flow of bile and pancreatic juice. It is rich in the appetite-stimulating vitamin, so that appetite is always kept normal and you are protected from indigestion.

Add 2 to 3 cakes of Fleischmann's Yeast to your daily diet. You will find that your whole digestive system is greatly benefited. Place a standing order with your grocer. He will deliver it regularly.

PIMPLES ON FACE TWO YEARS

Also On Back. In Blotches. Cuticura Healed.

"My trouble began in sort of small, white pimples on my face and back. They were in blotches and itched and itched over. My clothing aggravated the breaking out on my back, and my face was disfigured for the time being.

"The trouble lasted about two years. I tried different remedies but nothing cured me. I began using Cuticura Soap and Ointment and after I had used two and a half cakes of Cuticura Soap and one box of Cuticura Ointment I was completely healed." FOUR DEAD OR MISSING IN TEXAS BRIDGE CRASH

Mayor of Marlin, Tex., Among Those Unaccounted For in Collapse of Span.

By the Associated Press.
MARLIN, Tex., May 17.—Four dead or missing is the latest estimate of casualties from the collapse late yesterday of part of a bridge across the Brazos River, five miles west of Marlin. Persons reported missing last night had all been accounted for today, it was believed.

Frank N. Stallworth, Mayor of Marlin, and Dr. W. H. Allen of Marlin are missing.

About 100 persons were watching workmen repair the bridge when it collapsed. The Brazos has been at flood stage several weeks.

Bodies of J. W. Briggs, a seven-year-old boy and Mrs. C. Moseley of Beaumont have been recovered.

Thrilling escapes are recounted by those who were rescued and by those who swam to shore. Dr. H. W. Knickerbocker, pastor of the Methodist Church, was seen to relinquish the plank which he was holding to someone who was not as good a swimmer as he. After he had gone a mile or more down the river he was saved by a boy.

The west tier of the bridge collapsed while about 30 persons, including many women, were standing on that portion of the structure watching repair work on the bridge abutment.

A small automobile occupied by a little child, went down with the bridge. The child, unidentified, had not been found. Charles Phipps was rescued after a truck driven by him went crashing through the timbers and beams supporting the structure.

FOUR LEGATEES RECEIVING $1 EACH ATTACK $25,000 WILL Grandchildren of Woman Who Died at 94 Alleged She Was Influenced by Their Uncle.

Suit to set aside the will of Mrs. Mary Lutz, 94 years old, 1313 Carr street, who died Jan. 12, leaving an estate estimated at $25,000, was filed yesterday by four children of her deceased son. She left them $1 each. They aver she was influenced by her son, Joseph E. Lutz, to whom she left the bulk of her estate.

The will provided that $2000 was to go to the St. Joseph Catholic Church and $500 to the Little Sisters of the Poor. Realty at 3051 Thomas street was left to Walter Lutz, another grandchild.

The plaintiffs are Mary E. Weissmann, George J. Leonore and Helen Lutz. Their attorney, H. A. Loevy, said that a week before Mrs. Lutz died she executed a will in which she bequeathed all her estate to her son, but this will was rejected by the Probate Court because it was not in proper form. The will in controversy was drawn in 1917. It is alleged that Joseph Lutz caused his mother to believe she had already provided for the plaintiffs. Because of her age, she was not in full possession of her faculties when she executed the will, the suit avers.

The cause of the fire was not determined.

Judge Miller Seeking Third Term.

Judge Calvin M. Miller of the Court of Criminal Correction filed today for the Republican nomination at the August primaries to a third term in his present office. His only opponent so far is Rudolph Schneider of 3717 McDonald avenue, an attorney, with offices in the International Life Building.

Body of Boy Identified.

The body of a boy found in the river at Miller street yesterday was identified as that of Steven Berskyuski, 8 years old, son of Joseph Berskyuski of 1125 Cass avenue. The boy was in swimming with several of his playmates at the foot of Madison street Saturday afternoon, when suddenly he sank about 10 feet from shore.

WATER HOLES MUST BE FENCED

Ordinance to Be Enforced in Effort to Prevent Drownings.

Owners of water-filled quarries and properly containing ponds either must fill the holes with earth or surround them with fences, under penalty of being summoned to Police Court for violation of an ordinance prescribing a fine of from $10 to $500 against the owner of property of this character which is unprotected.

Director of Streets and Sewers

Fisk intends to rigidly enforce this ordinance in an effort to prevent boy swimmers from being drowned, and he has asked the Police Department for a list of such places as are not guarded. He recalled that there were several drownings in ponds last summer.

COAL DEALERS WARNED
NOT TO BOOST PRICES

Threat Made to Break Up Association if It Takes Undue Advantage of Strike.

Members of the Missouri Retail Coal Merchants' Association, embracing a number of St. Louis coal retailers, were told last night that if the organization makes the coal miners' strike an occasion for boosting prices the Attorney-General will do all in his power to break up the association. The warning was given by Assistant Attorney-General Henry Davis, in an address at a banquet at the Planters Hotel, which followed a business session of the association.

"The head of the nation has taken steps to check the rising prices of the product you sell," said Davis, referring to President Harding's action yesterday in directing Secretary of Commerce Hoover to take what steps may be necessary to remedy the situation.

Not Duty to Issue Warnings.

"It is not the function of the Attorney-General's office to issue warnings. It is taken for granted that business men know the laws and realize the consequences if they violate them, and it also is taken for granted that the Attorney-General will do his duty if the laws are violated. However, it is the hope of the Attorney-General that there will be no attempt on the part of dealers in fuel to make agreements among themselves that will be detrimental to the public."

W. K. Kavanaugh, president of the Fifth and Ninth District Coal Operators' Association, told of the efforts being made by that organization to end the strike. He said that he was reasonably sure that the union miners of Illinois are willing to confer with the operators regarding a wage scale, but that national officers of the union will not sanction such a conference.

"I do not know when the strike will end. I have no means of determining that. Whenever I am asked the question I say we are 60 days nearer a settlement than we were 60 days ago. Some operators are losing $25,000 a month waiting for the union to sign an agreement. Public Tired of Situation."

"The public is getting tired of the situation, and by the public I do not mean the domestic consumers alone. Only 12 per cent of the coal output goes for domestic use. The annual output of coal in the United States is 24,000,000 tons. In the nonunion fields south of Ohio the maximum wage scale for coal miners is $3 a day. In the Illinois district the minimum wage has been $7.50 for an eight-hour day. The union wants a six-hour day and a five-day week, which would mean a 25 per cent reduction in production. They are really asking for an increase in wages."

"If we succeed in getting the men to accept a fair reduction in wages the reduction will be passed along to the public. The coal industry must liquidate and get into step with other industries."

REFUSAL TO DEPOSIT CARFARE
NOT DISTURBANCE, JURY FINDS

A jury in the Court of Criminal Correction yesterday took the view that refusal of a street-car passenger to deposit his street-car fare in the fare box did not constitute a disturbance of the peace of the conductor.

It supported the appeal of Robert J. Price, 2413 Biddle street, a steel range worker, who had been fined $5 by Police Judge Homer on such a complaint by a conductor.

Price, with Charles E. Danielson, 1909 Virginia avenue, and Danielson's wife and child, boarded a west-bound Market car at the zoo on April 9, intending to ride to the loop and remain on the car on its eastbound trip. They paid the westbound fare and when the car started east, the conductor of the car, Clyde Blokes, came forward to ask for their fare. Danielson proffered a quarter, and the conductor gave him three tokens and 4 cents. Danielson declined to get up from his seat and walk to the rear of the car to deposit his fare. Shortly afterwards a policeman boarded the car and the conductor caused the arrest of Danielson and Price, declaring that they had declined to pay their fares.

PHILADELPHIA, May 17.—The race for the Republican nomination for the governorship of Pennsylvania yesterday's primary election between Attorney-General George E.
Baker and Gifford Pinchot, former state forester, was one of the closest years. Complete figures probably will be necessary to determine the winner.

Pinchot "has apparently won," Harry Baker, secretary of the state Republican committee, declared in a statement issued this afternoon. "Unless Allegheny County gives a larger majority than my figures indicate, then there is no doubt that Pinchot carried the state," the statement said.

districts in the State, received shortly after Secretary Baker made his announcement, had reduced Alter's majority to 11,696. The vote was, Baker, 443,390; Pinchot, 431,694.

test in the Republican ranks, Senator George Wharton Pepper of ment by the Governor, won a substantial majority over Congressman William J. Burke of Pittsburg, for the nomination for the United States Senate to fill the unexpired term of the late Senator Penrose. Senator Pepper's Democratic opponent at the November election will be Judge Samuel E.

Hall of Monroe County, who was opposed for the nomination.

David A. Reed of Pittsburgh, who was unopposed for the Republican nomination for both the unexpired term of the late Senator Philander Knox and for the full term beginning next March, will be opposed by Fred B. Kerr of Clearfield, nominated by the Democrats in both places, also without opposition.

John A. McSparran, head of the state Grange, will be the Democratic opponent in November of the winner of the Alter-Pinchot race.
Both headquarters early today claimed victory for their candidates in the Republican gubernatorial contest, but Alter supporters had reduced their estimates materially.

WASHINGTON, May 17.—Piling

Chairman Fordney of the Ways and Means Committee illustrated to the House yesterday what he characterized as "the robbing of the Government" by undervaluation of importation products.

Topping the chairman's list was a German clock which runs 400 days on one winding. Its invoice value, as shown by papers transmitted to Secretary Mellon, was $1.10, but,
on demand for revaluation, it was raised to $1.66. Before the war, Fordney said, he bought one exactly like it for $28, and found them in Washington the other day at $40.

"Its manufacture cost was around $1," said Fordney, "and the Secretary of the Treasury has delegated a man to go to Germany where it was made and run down the value."

Fordney exhibited, among other things, a knife purchased for him in a Chicago department store for $1.35. Getting the name of the German manufacturer from the blade and looking up his agent in New York, the chairman said he bought a dozen for $7.62.

A flatiron was invoiced at 19 cents

ney shouted.

VIEWS OF PRESIDENT HARDING AS DISCLOSED AT WHITE HOUSE

Hague Invitation, Coal Strike, Bond Forgeries, Primary Fights and Leviathan Discussed.

WASHINGTON, May 17.—Views of President Harding as disclosed at the White House yesterday:

Co-Operation With Europe—The administration does not consider that by its refusal to take part in the international conference to be held at The Hague it has "closed the door" against participation by the United States in a genuine economic conference on European rehabilitation.

Commerce Hoover—The Secretary of Commerce is taking cognizance of increased prices being charged for coal at certain mines and is preparing to take action to meet the situation.

Alleged Duplicated Bonds—An investigation having been ordered by the President as a result of a widely circulated report that hundreds of millions of dollars' worth of duplicated and counterfeit Liberty Bonds are in circulation, it is presumed that this is the investigation now being made by Department of Justice agents and by Louis Hill, the new director of the Bureau of Engraving and Printing.

PRIMARY FIGHTS—The President does not regard his recent speech in support of Senator Frelinghuysen of New Jersey as a departure from his announced policy of non-participation in primary and election fights.

Leviathan—The President has requested Chairman Lasker of the Shipping Board not to change the name of the liner Leviathan to "President Harding." He feels that the name Leviathan has become
dear to thousands of doughboys transported on the liner during and after the war and should be allowed to stand.

KIRKSVILLE, Mo., May 17.—
Senator Reed addressed about 1,000 persons here last night in the Teachers' College auditorium after the crowd had followed him through a drizzle from the Courthouse, where the seating capacity of 400 was too small for the meeting. The crowd included many Republicans and students and not many Democrats were present either in the crowd or as escorts to the Senator. The presiding officer is known as a Long adherent.

The Senator's speech was along the same lines of his Moberly address except that he elaborated somewhat in his attack upon Herbert Hoover and the amount of money the food administration is alleged to have prevented the American farmer from getting during the war. The speech was marked by frequent applause, the most prolonged following Reed's attack on the League of Nations.
Most of the address was devoted to a defense of Reed's attitude on occasions when he opposed President Wilson's requests.

No reference was made to his opponent in the primary campaign and no reference was made to Senator Spencer.

ATTEMPT AT CONTROL BY 'CLIQUE' RESENTED

Much Antagonism Aroused
Among Some Delegates
Who Were Ignored in Preliminary Matters.

By a Staff Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.

JEFFERSON CITY, May 17.—The Committee on Organization and Rules of the constitutional convention agreed early this morning to reverse its former decision for the appointment of committees of the convention by a Committee on Committees and to provide for their selection by the president of the convention. The decision is certain to cause a fight on the floor, many members charging that an attempt has been made by the committee to retain within a small clique complete control of the convention. The report was completed this morning and submitted to the convention when it convened at 10 o'clock.

Immediately after the presentation of the report, an adjournment was taken until 3 o'clock this afternoon to permit delegates an opportunity to examine it.

The method of selection of the committees, which will have the work of preparation, for submission to the convention, of every article in the proposed new Constitution, was the one subject over which there was a long fight in the committee, and which has been of the greatest interest to the delegates.

Much Antagonism Aroused.

In the selection of the committee,
R. E. Culver, the temporary chairman, chose seven men who conferred with him Sunday night before the convention convened and without other than self-assumed authority to be the Committee on Rules and Organization and added one other.

This aroused much antagonism from other delegates, who had not been called into conference and who were ignored in all convention matters.

Joseph B. Shannon and Paul Conwell of Kansas City, John P. Bothwell of Sedalia, A. A. Speer of Jefferson City and John P. Lucas of Osceola are among those who have severely criticized the committee.

While there is nothing in the report to provide for bipartisan control of all offices and bipartisan representation on all committees, there is without doubt the desire of nearly all the delegates, and there is every probability that the jobs will be equally divided and that the representation will be equal.

Clerical help has been reduced to a minimum by the committee, which has provided for only 51 employees for the convention. The salaries range from $2.50 a day for janitors up to $10 a day for expert stenographers.

Employees Provided For.

The powers provided for in the report and the salaries to be paid are: Chaplain, $5 a day; secretary, $10; assistant secretary, $7.50; sergeant-at-arms, $5; assistant sergeant-at-arms, $3; library research clerk, $7.50; fiscal clerk, $7.50;
reading clerk, $7.50; postmaster, $5;
file clerk, $5; journal clerk, $5; two official stenographers, $10 each; two messengers, $3.50 each; four pages, $2 each; two doorkeepers, $5; one janitor, $2.50; 18 stenographers for committees, not to exceed $6 a day each, the compensation to be fixed by the committee.

The committee stenographers, if provided, shall do stenographic work for the members of the committees by which they are employed.

The president, vice president, secretary, chaplain and sergeant-at-arms are to be elective officers, a majority vote of the 83 delegates being required to elect. Only the president and vice president shall be members of the convention.

Irish Republican Army Chiefs in Truce Conference

Left to right: Major-General McKeown, Commandant Sean Moylan, Gen. O'Duffy, Major-General O'Sullivan, Commandant-General Liam Lynch and Commandant-General Liam Mellows. They met recently at the Mansion House, Dublin, with a committee from the Dail Eireann to ascertain if a way to peace between the Griffith-Collins moderate faction and the De Valera "die hards" could be arranged. The conferences have continued since, from time to time, without a satisfactory conclusion having been reached.

stricts; public welfare; initiative and referendum.

It is expected the discussion of the rules will occupy almost all of today's session, though it is not anticipated that there will be serious controversy over other points than the elimination of the committee on committees and the method of dropping nominees who receive the smallest vote.

Essen Abandons Williams.

The attitude of the committee on rules, of which George H. Williams of Webster Groves is chairman, is held by many members to be a servile surrender to the opposition. A contention for the presidency, his failure to confer with the large body of the delegates, and the charges that a small clique was seeking control of the convention, Williams believed, secured the defeat of his candidate.

He thought selected a delegate at large, through the influence of Fred Essex, Republican boss of St. Louis County, Williams has, it is said, even lost Essex's support for the presidency. Essex was due in Jefferson City yesterday to aid Williams in his candidacy, but at the last minute decided not to come. Persons who said they had conferred with Essex said he had abandoned Williams.

The choice for the presidency is now uncertain. At the beginning of the session Monday, it appeared the office could go either to Williams, Joshua W. Alexander of Gallatin, Charles D. Morris of St. Joseph, or William T. Johnson of Kansas City. It now appears probable that none of these will be chosen, though sentiment for Alexander and Morris. Since yesterday there has been a growing boom for C. M.
Shartel of Neosho. Shartel is a member of Williams' committee, but his attitude in the committee has been one of co-operation and consultation, which has relieved him of much of the opposition which has been voiced toward Williams. A. A. Speer of Jefferson City is much talked of
for the office.

HOOPER PLANS TO CHECK RISE IN COAL PRICES AT THE MINE

Calls Conference of Operators to Meet Soon for Devising of Ways to Protect Consumers.

By the Associated Press.
WASHINGTON, May 17.—Secretary Hoover announced last night
the calling of a conference of coal operators to devise measures for the protection of consumers from the tendency of coal prices to rise at the mine in certain districts which he declared will be checked. No date has yet been definitely set for the conference but it is expected to be held in the next few days.

Hoover requested the American Railway Association and the Public Utilities Association to create buying committees to handle their coal purchases and announced his intention of asking other large consuming industries to take similar measures in order to stop bidding against each other and against the general consumer.

President Harding and other officials of the administration consider, it is said, that in spite of the continuing coal strike, there exists no possible reason for general or material advances in prices outside of a buyer's panic. At present, though a general price of slightly above $2 a ton for bituminous, is ruling over the country, in a few districts Hoover has found reports that $2 a ton and more has been collected.

Bridegroom Finds Savings of $1500 Makes Huge

Special Correspondence of the Post-Dispatch.
PLAUE, Saxony, May 17.—A young married couple came here about a year ago from New Orleans with the bridegroom's savings—$1500 after paying steamship passage and other expenses of their journey. They got 425,000 marks for that sum and they have been living so well at such small expense in American money that they intend to remain here until business in the United States is better. They figure that they can stay three years more if necessary.

They rented a fine new apartment
of seven large rooms and two baths, gas included. The rent is 50,000 marks (about $180) a year. At first they paid a maid of all work 200 marks a month—less than a dollar—but last Christmas they increased her wages to about $1.25.

10-Room Apartment for $75 a Year.
The correspondent was entertained by other friends in a quite palatial apartment having 10 rooms and three baths, a really modern habitation and a delightful home.
The rental is the equivalent of $75 a year.

This ancient seat of the lace industry, a charming and beautifully situated city, is distinctive for two things—first, because it has practically taken the lace-making business away from Switzerland and assumed the lead in the industry for all of Europe; second, because at this moment it is one of the very cheapest places on earth in which to live and live well.

With more than 100,000 population, Plauen is 4000 feet above sea level, is healthful and a pleasant place of residence for those who can do without the roar of subways and the pushing of crowds of New York or London or Paris. One would never suspect in Plauen that there had been a war.

Americans, Italians, Englishmen, Swiss and (whisper it) even Frenchmen are drifting toward Plauen to take advantage of the low living costs. There is not exactly an influx of foreign visitors yet and strangers resident in the town earnestly hope that not too many will come for obvious reasons.

Hotel Bill for Two $26 for 11 Days.
Two of us lately stayed for 11 days at the Wettinerhof, the best hotel in Plauen, a modern and comfortable house which has just completed an annex. We had a suite of two connecting rooms and private bath and three good square meals of excellently cooked food a day. Our bill for the 11 days for two was equivalent to $26 in American money. We gave our maid, a flaxen-haired, rosy-cheeked young woman who worked tirelessly for our comfort a tip of 100 marks (about 50 cents) and she cried with joy and completed an annex. We had a suite of

For such tipping we were severely blamed by an acquaintance in the town. One usually does know better, but it is almost a universal American habit.

when finished cost him $14.50. It costs his New York purchase. He bought some fine all-wool material for a suit, three and one-half yards, to have made up by a fashionable
New York tailor.

Amusements in Plauen.

The amusements in Plauen consist of opera, movies, concerts and tea parties—of course, there are always beer and wine rooms to fall back upon. One should bring his cigars or cigarettes, however, from afar.

As in Munich, furniture is ridiculously cheap if paid for from an American bankroll. One can completely furnish a five or six room apartment most attractively, sometimes as luxuriously, on an expenditure of $500 or $600.

We gave a tea party one day at the apartment of an acquaintance and I sailed forth to procure pastries. I entered a shop and selected two dozen of the most delicious ones on display. They included tarts and pastries of the French species, and the ingredients were unmistakably real cream and butter, toasted almonds, etc. The 24 pastries cost 25 cents!

To compare living costs in Germany as a whole with costs in America, a city like Berlin cannot be taken as a criterion, nor can Munich
although even in the largest cities today, at the rate of exchange, one gets much more for his American money than would be possible anywhere in the United States.

43 Cents for Opera Box Seats.

The best box seats for Wagnerian opera in Munich cost 55 marks apiece including tax—43 cents. And you will hear an opera well sung, directed and produced.

Tourists and students are again
flocking to Munich. At the Regina-Palast Hotel, one of the best in Central Europe, and a house comparable in many respects to the Ritz-Carlton
in New York, in rooms, furnishings, food, service and arrangement of restaurant and lounge, one may procure a large room and bath for two, beautifully furnished, for $3.50 a day.

One can buy a hand-embroidered tea cloth three yards long of linen-cotton mixture today in Munich with a dozen fine napkins to match for 240 marks. For a two-yard tea or lunch cloth of the same material, also with a dozen napkins, the price is 200 marks.

We visited in Munich the large Bernheimer furniture store, which is said to be conducted by a kinsman of a New York brewer. A gold and green enamel 12-piece bedroom suite of finest finish and detail could be had for $300. In a first-class furniture shop in New York an equivalent suite would cost eight times as much. Proportional prices on all articles of furniture prevail.

Turkey 14 Cents a Pound.

Dressed and fresh killed poultry is plentiful, with turkey at 14 cents a pound, fat domestic ducks or geese at 12 cents, and every day plump chickens at 8 or 9 cents.

The correspondent was invited to a holiday dinner and sought for some daintiness as a gift for her hostess.
In an attractive confectionery shop
she selected a beautiful hand-painted red satin box of bonbons, put up in the most alluring Fifth Avenue style.
It contained three pounds of fine sweetmeats, including candied fruits, and had been put up by the firm of Tell in Dresden. It cost 90 cents in United States coin. The outfit would have cost $15 in New York.

Two persons can live at a Plauen hotel in luxurious comfort, including rooms, meals, clothes and amusements, on $25 a week, but it would be unnecessary extravagance.

The town held about a dozen New York lace buyers while the correspondent was there. One of them bought some high-grade overcoating material, and took off the roomy box coat he wore, which he bought in New York ready made for $110, and gave it to the tailor as a model.

The coat, a stunning garment,
France in reputation.

By the Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, May 17.—The Chilean and Peruvian delegations to the Washington conference held their third meeting today, and after a general discussion of the Arica truce controversy, adjourned until Friday without coming to a direct issue on the major problems involved.

A brief communique issued jointly by the two delegations declared
"progress" had been made generally and the discussions were proceeding
in a spirit of conciliation.

Chile Not to Push Issue.
It was indicated that, although the two delegations still were separated on the question of fulfillment of the Tacna-Arica plebiscite provision, there had been no definite move to force an immediate decision on that point. The Chilean delegation is understood to be ready to discuss means of fulfilling the Tacna-Arica article of the treaty, but not disposed to endanger the conference at the outset by forcing a showdown.
During the two days' recess it is expected informal exchanges will take place which may avoid what had appeared to be a severe test of the ability of the conference to reach an agreement.

The communication issued by the two delegations after today's meeting follows:

The discussion of the questions
pending between Peru and Chile was begun in the session this morning. There was an active exchange of ideas, which signifies some progress in the tranquil and friendly discussions of the points, it being agreed to resume the discussion on Friday, May 19.

The recognized crucial issue of the entire controversy involving the validity of the Arica truce provision for a plebiscite in Tacna-Arica.

Peru plenipotentiaries have indicated that they are far from an unconditional acceptance of the Chilean view that the provision of the treaty must be fulfilled.

President's Words Used.
It was recalled Peru declared something more than a plebiscite would be necessary now to decide the sovereignty of Tacna-Arica and that the plebiscite provision had been invalidated by failure to hold the election in 1894, the date fixed by the treaty.

While, on the other hand, used as the point of departure for her proposal, the words of President Harding's invitation for the Washington conference as repeated by Secretary Hughes Monday in his address of welcome. The purpose of the Washington negotiation was defined in the President's note as to discuss controversies arising out of the "unfulfilled" provisions of the treaty.

Speculate on Mediation.

As a consequence of the sudden prominence given this difference of view between the two Governments, optimism over the success of the direct negotiations here was not really diminished, and there was a corresponding increase in speculation over possible mediatory steps
by some outside government.

In all the discussions indications pointed to the United States as the possible arbitrator, should the form of settlement be agreed upon. In some quarters it was suggested also that Argentina and Brazil might join with the Washington Government in making up an arbitration court.

Bolivia May Make Claim.

It also was intimated that, should arbitration be accepted, a way might be found for recognition of the claims of Bolivia in final settlement.
These claims, based on Bolivia's participation in the war of the Pacific, were reasserted last night in a statement by Alberto Gutierrez, unofficial observer for his Government here.

for the heartiest gratification over the marked progress that is steadily being made in the way of construc-

THE POST-DISPATCH PLAT-FORM.
I know that my retirement will make no difference in its cardinal principles, that it will always fight for progress and reform, never tolerate injustice or corruption, always fight demagogues of all parties, never belong to any party, always oppose privileged classes and public plunder, never lack sympathy with the poor, always remain devoted to the public welfare, never be satisfied with merely printing news, always be drastically independent, never be afraid to attack wrongs, whether by predatory plutocracy or predatory poverty.

Advice to Culture Club.

I HAVE for a long time been impressed by the wonderful cultural work the St. Louis Tercentenary Shakespeare Society has been doing in our city. It has raised the standard of public taste in literature and drama, and with great dignity it has grown slowly, but surely. This has been its record as it has followed it.

I was much shocked the other day when one of its members invited me to a lawn fete to be given by this society a regular street fair, at which gum, candy, soda water, ice cream cones, powder, rouge, lip-sticks, dolls, birds and such commodities are to be sold. As a lover of culture and one who has been interested in the work of this club as a spectator, I protest against the club's allowing anything to be done in its name, that is so undignified as this. A cultural club should think too much of its influence in the community to allow itself to stoop to such an affair to raise money. Let it work quietly as it has in the past, step by step, building up, and when its benefit is established in the community, some rich man will be glad to give it the proper financial backing.

Members of the Tercentenary Shakespeare Society, take the advice of a man who loves culture, and who admires the high-class work you have done up to this time. Be conservative. Do not allow yourselves to feel either poverty stricken or money mad. You are a literary and dramatic club. Keep to this work, and trust the lovers of culture to stand by you. The tree of culture is of slow growth. If you try to force its growth, fertilizing it with society and all its butterfly flittings, you'll kill your tree. Keep to your study and look for social intercourse elsewhere. Take this warning before it is too late.

Village Traffic Ordinances.

THE ordinances in St. Louis governing traffic in the city for a village: they will not do for a city.

A 10-ton truck loaded with sand on Lindell with solid rubber tires, a load of hay on Broadway and Olive, a load of garbage trailing up King's highway, a 5-ton truck with solid Delmar, solid rubber tires, all driving down the center of the street and securing the respect proportionate to the weight of their conveyance.

In these any chance for the Chamber of Commerce to appoint a committee to visit even Kansas City and come home ready to start something besides fighting the laborers on whose purchasing power they are dependent? F. L. H.

Children or Dogs?

TWO little boys are dead—victims of a rabid dog, and a number of other persons, adults and children, have been bitten by other vicious curs. In the case of the dog whose poisonous bite was fatal twice there was no harrying by a cruel mob. The scene which sentimentalists like to conjure in their maudlin objections to proper measures for protecting people against dogs does not occur. This dog had not been chased or harried or driven to madness.

In the first instance it appeared among a group of children who were playing in the street and ferociously attacked the boy. But for the intervention of the boy's terrified playmates the dog would probably have killed his prey on the spot.

The city should see to it that children are protected against dogs. If to secure this protection it is necessary to be severe on dogs, then be severe. The comfort and happiness of dogs are a secondary consideration to the safety and life of children, notwithstanding the soft heads who don't think of the whole of the boy's terrified playmates the dog would probably have killed his prey on the spot.

Alms and the Army.

WHILE the U. S. is spending millions to save the starving Russians, the Soviet government maintains an immense army of well fed, well clothed and finely disciplined soldiers at an enormous cost. This fact seems to be wholly ignored by the nations feeding her starving people.
Alton, Ill. A. C. MARKLEY.

Free Speech on Prohibition.

IT is not about time to recognize the right of every citizen who does not favor prohibition to say so, and in public? To this question by a churchman there can be but one honest answer. A denial of free speech exists in the case of prohibition, not by sound authority, but by a certain public coercion. It seems that to criticize prohibition is to open one's self to the charge of being almost immoral or irreligious.

Prohibition is a drastic measure against which the instinctive individualism of the American is bound to rebel and has rebelled with very widespread and serious consequences. Certainly, discussion should be free and especially in the churches, for if the tide is turning against prohibition, it is most desirable that an intelligent opinion should be developed by free discussion without fanaticism.

NO HALF-WAY MEASURES.

The partial report of the Plan and Scope Committee of the General Council of Civic Needs calls for special commendation because the committee approves a full program of needs and provision for a complete plan of improvement on each item of the program.

The committee disapproves of half-way measures leaving provision for the completion of the recommended improvements to future action. The report contemplates full provision in the bond issue for a thoroughgoing, complete program.

Of course, it will take years to do the work, but the approval of a complete program, with bonds provided to finish the work, will assure a satisfactory result in the end, without further agitation or expenditure of money. St. Louis will be assured the necessities of municipal life and progress and we may confidently go forward building on an adequate foundation for the greater city. We may invite new business and additional population with a guarantee that they will be provided with sanitary and comfortable conditions of living and with the facilities for doing business on a large scale and for getting to and from business.

The report has not yet been completed and, therefore, discussion in detail may well be postponed until the entire program has been submitted. The program must then be passed upon by the general council before it is submitted to the Board of Aldermen and the voters.

It is gratifying to note progress in the work of supplying the city's needs. Progress should be hastened so far as haste is compatible with good judgment. The bond election should not be postponed a day longer than necessary.

RUSSIA'S DEVOURING DRAGON.

The church and synagogue treasures of Russia—gold, silver, diamonds and pearls in fabulous quantities—have been confiscated by the Soviet government. Relief for the famine sufferers is the explanation given, but whether given sincerely or in the hope that the cause may justify the spoliation, or at least suspend the world's judgment, can only be conjectured now. The Soviet's frank and venomous hostility to religion, however, warrants the belief that the work of plundering was undertaken and carried out with gusto, regardless of the humanitarian objective.

If Lenin, Trotsky and company are honestly seeking to alleviate the distress of destitute Russians they can prove their good faith. They are now maintaining a huge military establishment. The "Red Army" is said to be the finest in Europe, not only by the critics of communism but by the most enthusiastic Bolsheviks. Testimony from such extremes ought to be conclusive. The army is a continuous expense. The treasures of the churches are, at most, a temporary relief. By disbarring the army the professed liberators of the peasants will have slain the most ravenous dragon that is devouring Russia.

FORMULAE AND REALITIES.

The new economic position of the United States as a result of the war was clearly set forth by Prof. Gephart of Washington University in his address to the American Manufacturers' Export Association at Philadelphia. Our problem now, he said, is that of financing foreign trade, which is quite different from that of financing domestic trade. It is not only long-term credit, in contrast with short-term credit, but it is a special kind of long-term credit. It is developmental credit. It is investment banking.

Certain realities must be faced, the speaker urged. We must recognize the destruction of billions of property in the war and, in consequence, that the world is poorer in 1922 than it was in 1914. That condition cannot be magically healed by any formula—whether a political league of nations or a communistic vagary. The solution is to be found in work. Only by production and economy can we retrieve our losses.

Prof. Gephart's concept is untainted by idealism. Coldly practical as it is, though, it includes the need on our part for a new international attitude to comport with our new economic position and the new trade policy we must adopt. Manifestly, if our prosperity depends on foreign markets we must, as prudent business people, take a sensible interest in those markets. If we have got to sell our goods abroad in order to be prosperous we must do what we can to enable those markets to buy and pay for our goods. That is elemental.

Yet that elemental truth has not yet penetrated Washington thought. In the one big piece of commercial legislation undertaken by the administration—the tariff bill—our statesmen have been blindly oblivious to any change in world conditions. The Fordney tariff bill, in as far as it expresses a trade policy, is identical with the Payne-Aldrich law or the Dingley law. Professional contempt may wither formulae or faith cures, but the realities announce a different world physically, with a lowered morale that must be specially treated if health is speedily to be restored. The common sense viewpoint recommended by Prof. Gephart is good advice, but unless statesmanship has vision, also, the world's recovery, and ours, must be slow and painful.

WILL CONGRESS QUIT?

A movement to take the tariff out of politics is under consideration by Congress, according to a special correspondent of the Post-Dispatch. It is proposed to create a tariff commission with the power to fix rates. In its field the board would have an authority corresponding to that of the Interstate Commerce Commission.

Notwithstanding the growing opposition to bureaus, it is probable that public sentiment would approve of such a commission as is proposed. It has long been held that the tariff had no place in partisan politics. That as such it has been a source of spoils and corruption is notorious. That a commission concerned solely with adjusting schedules to meet varying business conditions could render far better service than a majority party currying the favor and support of powerful interests by valuable concessions is not debatable.

Admitting all this, the circumstances from which this idea of a rate-fixing tariff commission has sprung are not reassuring. As our correspondent tells it, Congress is worn out with its tariff labors. It has been at work on the job for more than a year, and the result is a monstrosity which, if enacted into law, will be disastrous. In the judgment of some of the most loyal administration and party papers. It is small wonder, then, that Congress is willing to rid itself of this burdensome task.

The point should not be overlooked, however, that in such decision Congress is confessing its incapacity to do the work it once did. And that one word, incapacity, explains the present low repute of Congress. The incapacity, we believe, is moral rather than intellectual. The cowardice of our national legislature in recent years, its readiness to yield to any forcefully presented demand, is a pusillanimous record. The ignominious failure in the attempt to frame a tariff may or may not be the climax of incompetence, but the climax is coming.

EXPECT THE UNEXPECTED.

Had a robbery actually been expected before the armed guard of the Bremen Bank was fatally shot and the package of currency seized from the bank's messenger several things might have happened to foil a successful getaway and spare the victim's life.

If robbers expected to be expected they would not rob. They know only too well that their only chance to succeed is to be not expected. When those entrusted with valuables do not expect to be attacked they are playing the game of the attackers.

THE FARM BLOC RESUMES.

The farm bloc, quiescent since the retirement of its first chairman, Mr. Kenyon, from the Senate to the Federal bench, has met again, under the chairmanship of Senator Capper, to consider a plan for organizing farm credit machinery which will more adequately meet the farmers' requirements. The legislative bar sinister, it seems, has been removed from the farm bloc. In any event Senator Capper told the special correspondent of the Post-Dispatch that the American Bankers' Association recognized that a credit system which compelled the farmer to sell his crops, regardless of the market and left him at the mercy of the middleman was not satisfactory. With the bankers beaming a blessing on the farm bloc it may be assumed that the most punctilious Wall Street speculator will manage to utter an amen.

The immediate activity of the bloc will be to harmonize the various remedial agricultural bills that have been introduced, shape them into a program and accomplish the ends desired with as little waste motion as possible. As regards credit, it is believed that the land bank system can be extended so as to issue loans on farm products as well as on land, and on such terms as will give the farmer an opportunity to exercise his business judgment in disposing of his goods. The same idea is now being worked out by the Oklahoma Cotton Growers' Association, which, though it has yet to prove itself, is making splendid progress.

The bipartisan character of the farm bloc is shown in the fact that 12 Republicans and 11 Democrats attended the caucus. Such a fusion may be disturbing to the party regulars, but not to the public. The public wants to see Congress serve the national welfare, even if party labels and time-honored party procedure have to be junked.

It will take a monarchy to suit Germany, says Ludendorff, who seems to have learned the lesson of the great war about as well as Lodge.

Notwithstanding Brer Bryan's declaration that he prefers "The Rock of Ages to the age of rocks," science is going ahead bravely upon the theory that men and monkeys all sprang different distances from about the same take-off. Thus, this is the afternoon program today of the fourth annual meeting of the American Society of Mammalogists, in session through two days in New York.

Some notion of the extent to which Missouri politics will be associated with money in the public mind since the Lowden scandal may be gained from the following paragraph in a new story of yesterday in the Republican primary in Pennsylvania:

Gifford Pinchot's defeat or victory will be accomplished in the two counties of Philadelphia and Allegheny, the political wisecracker asserted. Should Altemus fail to carry Philadelphia by more than $54,000 he is a beaten man, according to the Pinchot City Committee.

The printer knew very well that if he didn't put a dollar mark in there our imagination would have tossed one in anyway, so he saved our imagination the effort.

The President of the National Chamber of Commerce says hope of the immediate future in business is not justified. He emphasized it by saying it in Washington on the day our Government refused for a second time to participate in a conference for the reconstruction of Europe.

It really looks as if we would have to send somebody abroad besides Jack Dempsey if we are to be of any assistance.

Maybe the new Constitutional convention will be quieted by the capitol decorations.

OUR LITTER-ARY SOCIETY.

Far be it from us to take the joy out of picnicking, but isn't it about time to enter a vigorous protest against the hebdomadal desecrations of the St. Louis Litter-ary Society whose members take possession of Forest Park only to turn it into a forest of litter with the debris of thousands of lunches?

It was a fine day Sunday afternoon. We went out to enjoy the Art Museum, but we had to wade through miles of litter and by the time we arrived at the Art Museum our artistic souls were paralyzed and all power of enjoyment had vanished amid strange culinary odors not very gently wafted from belittered hillside. Surely this is wrong, and since we have been invited to tell what's wrong in 200 words, here goes at the peril of our immortal souls.

Observing the Litter-ary Society in action, I thought I could detect three kinds of members. First, there were the active busy opening up sardine cans, pickle jars and cracker boxes, all which containers were carelessly thrown about as if this were a perfectly free country. Then there were the hard-boiled members. After getting through with their eggs, they sprinkled the grass with the shells and, finally, there were the orderly members whose chief function was to ruin the green, grassy acres with old newspapers doing duty as lunch wrappers. It may be interesting to you that I noted that the Post-Dispatch, "first in everything," seemed to be first in the litter. You can take this as a compliment, if you want to, but suit yourself about that.

As I viewed the whole scene my heart sank within me as I contemplated what it would cost to hire enough park policemen to prevent the desecrations, and then I saw a ray of light. "Tell it to the P.-D.," a small voice whispered within, and so I'm telling it in the fond hope that maybe a little publicity will go far in focusing attention on what has grown to be the most inexcusable nuisance in our miracle city.

A SONG.
FROM the, oh Muse, I'd woe bright thoughts like colored bits of silk

And weave them all into a song filled with the joy of life.
Careless, warm as the scented breath of Spring, and laughter, Tinkling in silver peals from Youth's white throat—
All these I'd weave like many-colored threads into a song of Life and Love and Youth.

POLITICAL PRISONERS.

From the Nation.

AT last New York's political prisoners have been granted the usual privilege of bail pending appeal. For 18 months they have been imprisoned because no judge would grant them a certificate of reasonable doubt which is a prerequisite under New York procedure, for admission to bail while a case is fought through to the highest court. The judge's act followed a remarkably able argument on behalf of himself and his colleagues by Isaac Ferguson, one of the prisoners. Judge Cardozo expressed doubt as to the applicability of the criminal law to the case of the so-called communist cases. This states a forward step in the return of our judiciary to sanity. We wish that we could report progress in the case of Federal political prisoners. It is to the credit of Congress that 18 Congressmen were found to sign a petition for admission to bail while a case is fought through to the highest court. Judge Cardozo expressed doubt as to the applicability of the criminal law to the case of the so-called communist cases. This states a forward step in the return of our judiciary to sanity. SON OF PEGGY MARSH GIVEN NAME OF FOSTER FATHER

Adoption Papers Signed in New York for Child of Late Henry Field II.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.
NEW YORK, May 17.—Last night for the first time the 1-year-old son of Peggy Marsh and the late Henry Field II drifted happily off to dreamland, possessed of a name and a father he could legally call his own. Before Surrogate Foley signed the adoption papers that made the little fellow Anthony Field Johnson he was known formally as Henry Anthony Marsh and informally as "Tony" Marsh.

His mother, Peggy Marsh, was a dancer in the Alhambra Theater in London when Henry Field II, grandson of Marshall Field of Chicago, met her in 1915. They lived together in London for several months and a son was born to Peggy Marsh in 1916. Henry Field returned to this country some time later, married a society girl here and died suddenly in 1918. Peggy Marsh sued in Illinois to establish her son's right to part of his father's estate. She lost, but the heirs of Marshall Field, who never denied her allegations concerning the boy's parentage, effected a settlement that provided for his support.

YOUTH FREED WHEN EVIDENCE AGAINST HIM DISAPPEARS

Leo Chappell, 17, Had Previously Offered to Plead Guilty of Possession of Burglar Tools.
The disappearance of six skeleton keys, evidence in the case of Leo Chappell, 17, a hot-tamale peddler, living at 1021A Dillon street, charged with the felonious possession of burglar tools, resulted in Chappell being freed in Circuit Judge Hogan's court yesterday on a nolle prosequi entered by Associate Prosecuting Attorney Albert Schweitzer.

Chappell was arrested April 14 by officers of the Southern District, when the keys were found in his possession. He offered to plead guilty to the charge preferred against him before Judge Hogan last week and at that time Prosecutor Schweitzer recommended a two-year term in Reformatory. Upon being questioned by the Judge, Chappell stated that his landlady had given him the bunch of skeleton keys when he had lost the key to his home. Judge Hogan refused to accept a plea under those conditions and appointed an attorney to defend him.

When the case was called yesterday a deputy announced that the evidence could not be found in the Sheriff's office. The nolle prosequi was then entered by Schweitzer, who said he could not make a case without the keys. An investigation had shown that Chappell's landlady had given him the keys.

A. A. STAHL, LAWYER, TO RUN AGAINST NEWTON IN PRIMARY

C. H. Dances Files for St. Louis Court of Appeals, T. S. Mosby for Supreme Court Nomination.

Filing of candidates for St. Louis nominations, in Jefferson City yesterday, included that of Justice Charles H. Dances for the 10-year unexpired term of the late Judge George D. Reynolds of the St. Louis Court of Appeals, which Judge Dances is now filling by appointment.

A. A. Stahl of 908 North King's highway, a lawyer, filed his declaration as a candidate for the Republican nomination for Congress in the Tenth (St. Louis and St. Louis County) District, in which Congressman Cleveland A. Newton is a candidate for re-election.

Thomas Speed Mosby of Jefferson City, State Beverage Inspector, has filed for the Democratic nomination for Judge of Division 2 of the Supreme Court. Two Judges are to be elected for that division, and seven Democrats have previously filed as candidates.

WOMAN SAYS CHIROPRACTOR KNOCKED DOWN BED SHE WAS ON

Suit for $10,000 damages was filed yesterday by Miss Sarah Helfrich, 129 West Courtis avenue, against Louis Leo, 2315 Wyoming street, a chiropractor, alleging that she was rendered a physical wreck because of chiropractic treatments she received from him; that she is unable to do her housework and cannot sleep at night.

On one occasion, she avers, in applying his treatment, he struck her on the spine so hard that the bed on which she was lying fell down. According to the petition, the defendant stated that Miss Helfrich was suffering from a gutta serena and that he could cure her.

The downtown building will be a model for the United States, said Plans already approved provide for 500 to 700 dormitory rooms and general hotel facilities such as are needed for this type of hotel. Conference Purpose Explained.
The purpose of the national rehabilitation conference in session in St. Louis, was explained to radio fans who listened in on the K S D program last night by Ernest L.

Schneider, State Supervisor of Rehabilitation for Missouri and those hearing the talk were told that much rehabilitation work and vocational training other than that being done for ex-service men is in progress over all America, and that persons hurt in the course of their daily work for a livelihood as well as in street and other accidents, are being trained to other gainful employment than that which their handicap prevents them from continuing.

Any person who is vocationally handicapped is eligible to the service of the rehabilitation service, Schneider said. This service is rendered, first by providing such physical reconstruction as will enable the person either to return to his former employment or to enter a new one.
Sometimes only adequate surgical and medical attention is necessary.
Second, the service supplies artificial limbs or other necessary appliances.
and third, it provides work that will not endanger the health of the rehabilitated case. The fourth and fifth section of the service assists the handicapped person to establish himself in business and provides training for a new occupation in the place of the one which his injury has made impossible for him.

The terms of the industrial rehabilitation service have been ac-

The work in this State is under the direction of Sam A. Baker, State Su-

Schneider said.

The musical numbers last night were exceptionally pleasing and the transmission, according to reports,
was about as perfect as is possible.

The soprano solos by Mrs. Ray H.
McDow were of charming quality. A piano recital by Master Edward Oehlert revealed unusual talent in so young a musician. Miss Thelma Hayman, contralto, rounded out the evening's musical entertainment with an altogether too brief display of her talents.

POLICY OF GREATER SERVICE URGED TO IMPROVE BUSINESS

Utilities Man Says "Slip-Shod" Ways Must Pass If Stable Ground Is to Be Regained.

By the Associated Press.
ATLANTIC CITY, N. J., May 17.—A policy of "greater service" must be adopted by industries and by individuals if American business is to return to more stable ground, Martin J. Insull, vice president of the Middle West Utilities Co. of Chicago, told the National Electric Light Association convention here today.

"We have, as a nation, learned to do many things in a slip-shod way; to give as little as we can, and take as much as we can get," Insull said. "It is this idea of 'greater service' which made this nation great. It was the feeling of the individual that he should give just a little more in the way of goods or service which made all kinds of business try to outstrip their competitors."

"The development of the utility services for the nation's people is still in its infancy. Marvelous as we regard these agencies today they are but small as compared with what they will be 10 or 20 years from now. The question of maintaining personal contact with our employees, so that they may obtain the little necessities of service to which they are entitled, and which we must render if we are to do our full duty and grow to our fullest, becomes more difficult as service expands. It is because of this that it's obligatory that executives guide their employees with greater accuracy and that each worker become more fully informed respecting his business so that at all times he may be a real representative of his company. In every instance the employee must be a diplomat if he is to render the greatest service both to himself, to his company and to the patron."

Champion and Challenger Both Play Poorly in Cue Effort, Peterson Writes

Two Real Flashes of Form Displayed, When Young Jake Schaefer Defeats Welker Cochran 500 to 421 in First Block of a Three-Night Balk-Line Event.

By Charles C. Peterson,
St. Louis Billiardist and Referee.

CHICAGO, May 17.—The 18-2 balkline billiard match for the world's championship, between Jake Schaefer, champion, and Welker Cochran, challenger, began last night at Orchestra Hall, before a fair-sized house. Schaefer trimmed Cochran by a count of 500 to 421, in 15 innings. Schaefer had a high run of 202, while the best cluster Cochran could make was a 100. Schaefer's run came in the third inning and was a big help in winning last night's block. The champion stumbled along without much result, until the eighth point, when he finally cleared the spheres at the head of the table and plunged into some real cueing, making most of his points on the head of the table, only to miss a point on a simple one-cushion shot, with the balls in the pocket.

The match developed some of the best billiards and also some of the best seen in recent championship matches. For long periods the players failed to get their stride. They were over-anxious, and both resorted to frequent safety. Spectators were apathetic, and several left the hall before the conclusion of the match.

Cochran won the bank at the start, and selected the white ball. He missed the opening shot by a wide margin, on a three-cushion attempt. Schaefer counted on a dead-ball, one-cushion carom. His second shot was a line-up. He banked and missed.

Cochran Makes Run of 72. Cochran opened with a two-cushion shot. The balls were anything but favorable until his eighth point, when he coaxed them together. He seemed confident, as he settled down for a robust run that netted him 72. The balls then lined up and he missed a difficult masse shot.

Morvich's Owner Will "Take No Unnecessary Risks" With His Racer

NEW YORK, May 17.—Morvich, winner of the Kentucky Derby and unbeaten since, is back in his own barn at the Jamaica track. He arrived at 9:30 o'clock yesterday morning from Louisville and to all appearances stood the trip well. He stepped out of the boxcar in the most unconcerned way and after a little walking exercise was turned into his deeply bedded boxstall in perfect condition, so far as Fred Burlew, his trainer, could judge.

Benjamin Block, who owns the great 3-year-old, when shown a statement from Toronto that his brother, Louis, hoped to have Morvich run a match race or an exhibition in Canada this year, said: "I have not heard from my brother officially and, of course, I would like to help in any worthy charitable cause, but only the most extraordinary combination of circumstances would lead me to alter my determination not to take any unnecessary risk with Morvich."

Schaefer started with a carom. His third was a long follow, bunching the balls at the head of the table near the balk line. There was very little open play during the run that followed. Most of the time he had the balls under absolute control, and one of the outstanding features was his second-ball play. After scoring 79, he missed an easy short one-cushion shot on the upper rail. The balls were left in a good position at the head of the table. Cochran scored 94 fast billiards on the line nurse. The balls lined up, but he wiggled out with a masse. This run was well played, intermingled with masses, line nursing and draw shots. Welker missed his ninety-fifth on a difficult one-cushion bank.

Schaefer then slipped up on a one cushion shot by a wide margin. From the third inning until the twelfth both players shot some mediocre billiards. In fact, a good deal of "safety" was spread over the table, which gave both players something hard to shoot at. Schaefer scored 32 in eight innings, while the challenger accumulated 42.

Both Play Poorly. In the twelfth Cochran scored 31. Schaefer followed with 26. Cochran then connected with nine more. Schaefer then proceeded to play slam bang billiards with the score against him 248 to 138. Schaefer continued chopping away until he soon had the balls clicking off what proved the best run of the block.

Most of Schaefer's points were played on the "short table" system. He missed on a one cushion shot on upper rail, making the score, Schaefer 340, Cochran 248. Cochran opened the next inning with a daring force masse. It proved the best shot of the evening and was greeted with a storm of applause. His twenty-first was a hard, one-cushion shot.

From the fifty-first to the seventy-sixth point, Welker showed some real line nursing. Hitting the object ball slightly too hard on the seventy-sixth, he was left a one-foot draw for position. Dame Fortune was against him. Cochran got a bump, the only one of the game, missing with the balls in good position for Schaefer, who quickly gathered '75. In this run the balls were frequently out of his control.

The billiards that Schaefer had shown up to this time was in great contrast to his match with Hoppe last March, he missed on a short angle one-cushion shot. Score: Schaefer 415, Cochran 324. Cochran then connected with three difficult shots in the open. On the seventh he gathered them near the anchor at the upper end of the table and kept them in control practically all the time, while he clicked off 97 points, falling on a three-cushion shot by a hair. Cochran was leading by six points. The balls were left in a fairly hard position, but Schaefer carefully measured it, counted on a one-cushion cut shot, gathered the balls and for the first time in this block showed some championship billiards. It was a real exhibition. His judgment was so accurate that a derby hat could have been placed over the three balls. His playing was so nearly perfect that it was seldom he was confronted with a difficult shot.

The balls were left in perfect position for the second block, when the referee, Albert Cutler, called "85 and game."

Willie Hoppe and R. B. Benjamin came all the way from New York to witness the match.

NO NEW LEADERS IN CITY HANDICAP EVENT

None of the bowling in last night's session of the city handicap tournament was sufficiently strong to result in displacement of the group leaders. The best score in the doubles was that of J. J. Juby and E. Schaefer of the Palace Alley team, who shot 1220, for eleven place.

Walter Kinsella of the Laclede Gas team was the outstanding star in the individual event. He shot a scratch total of 596 and with his eight pins a game handicap turned in a total of 620. Mike Canein of the Palace team was next with 619.

Chaminade 8, Clayton 1.

Clayton High School team was held to two hits by Pitcher Kane of the Chaminade team yesterday and the college nine won, 8 to 1. The batting of Aubuchon and C. Wentker was largely responsible for Chaminade's advantage in runs. It was the second straight victory over Clayton and the eighth victory in 11 games for Chaminade. Tomorrow Chaminade will oppose Loyola Academy and on Saturday Kenrick High School.

Brennan Knocks Out Jim Tracey In the 8th Round

Australian Heavyweight Champion Shows Great Gameness, but Lacks Real Punch.

By Bert Igoe.

NEW YORK, May 17.—Jim Tracey, heavyweight champion of Australia, was knocked out in the eighth round in his American debut against Bill Brennan at Madison Square Garden, last night, but he went down with all colors flying and the crowd cheering him to the echo.

Tracey went as far as human legs would carry a game man. He took a terrific beating in the seventh round and suddenly turned on Brennan like a man possessed. This sudden change woke Bill up with a start. He went to his corner reeling from the effects of a rally first was the dying effort of a desperate man. As Tracey sat in his corner before the bell rang for the eighth round his seconds working over him in a frenzied fashion, there came to him a most remarkable demonstration. Almost every man was on his feet cheering the Australian. They wanted him to win, and they were letting him know that fact with a cheer no visiting heavyweight ever got in the old hall.

Brennan Lands Knockout. The Australian's defense was thoroughly riddled now and Brennan, quick to see his advantage, let fly with both hands to Tracey's jaw. It was hard to tell which punch brought Tracey down.

They were both hooks and hard ones, too. Tracey was crumpling after the left landed and the right put a period on him. He hit the floor hard and was still flattened out when "10" was counted.

As the referee attempted to lift Tracey to his feet Jim grasped him about the legs and tried to climb up to a standing position. He was still badly dazed but still in a fighting mood. It took plenty of persuasion to convince Tracey that it was the referee and not the common enemy he held. He got an ovation as he left the ring.

Tracey's one falling last night seemed to be lack of condition. He was not the solid man that Brennan was, though in truth Bill was none too sylph-like. Tracey boxed well, but he lacked a good punch.

Malone and Ratner Draw. Jack Malone of St. Paul and Augie Ratner of the Bronx battled 15 sensational rounds to a draw. The bout was a preliminary to the Tracey-Brennan set.

TIGERS AND MACKMEN, FORMERLY OF CELLAR, SETTING A FAST PACE

The Yankees and St. Louis today are sharing the first division with two former rivals for the cellar championship—the Philadelphia Athletics and Detroit Tigers, who right now are playing the most sensational game in the league.

Ty Cobb, again starring at bat with three hits in as many times up, led his team to an easy 4-2 victory over Washington, while the Mackmen hammered Roberts, the White Sox no-hit pitcher, out of the box and won, 9-6, Ed Rommel stopping Chicago in the latter stages of the game.

Washington pulled a triple play in the ninth inning, the fourth of the season.

The pace-setters, New York and St. Louis, also won, but the Tigers and Athletics are tied for third place and close on the heels of the leaders.

Only two games were played in the National, the Giants bowing to the Cubs for the second time in four games and giving Chicago an even break in the series.

Pittsburgh lost to Boston, 7-5, in 12 innings, and also the services temporarily of Shortstop Maranville, who was carried from the field after being spiked.

CLUB CAN'T MAKE GOLFER, BOB McDONALD ASSERTS

CHICAGO, May 17.—How difficult it is for an expert golfer to make a bad shot as compared to the proneness of the duffer to hit the ball poorly was demonstrated yesterday at the trial of steel shafted clubs by Bob McDonald, the long driving Chicago professional, at the Edgewater Golf Club. It took McDonald some time to hit the ball anywhere, but in the exact center of the face of the club after Albert R. Gate, president of the Western Golf Association, had requested that the ball be hit off the toe and heel of the club to help in the decision to be announced today as to whether the steel shaft is a mechanical aid in making good shots from poor strokes.

While the Scot after he gave up trying to foolie averaged 224 yards with six shots miked with a hickory club, he could no do better than an average of 206 yards with a steel shaft; and every spectator seemed to believe him when he said the club could never make a golfer, but the stroke could make any club go well.

JAPAN'S GOLF CHAMPION WILL NOT PLAY IN U. S.

H. Newmarki golf champion of Japan, will be unable to compete in the American championships this summer, as he has been called home on business. The Japanese expert of the links, who has done much to popularize golf in the island Kingdom of the Pacific, made a fine showing in the North and South tournaments at Pinehurst this spring, and had planned to help make this year's national meets cosmopolitan by trying for the titles held by Jim Barnes and Jesse Guillard.

OFFICIAL DECISIONS IN S. B. A. C. BOUTS

KID BANDY of St. Louis and Bud Purrell of Terre Haute, fought a 10-round draw. Weight, 135 pounds.

AL THOMAS, St. Louis, won on a foul in the fifth round from Leo Roberts, Terre Haute. Weight, 135 pounds.

JOHNNY LUCAS, St. Louis, outpointed Eli Stua, East St. Louis, in eight rounds. Weight, 138 pounds.

Referee, Fred Gilmaster.

Duck Pin Sweepstakes.

An individual duck pin sweepstakes tournament will be bowled on the Washington alleys Saturday night. The event will be open to any bowler in the city. Three games will be bowled and total pins will count. Entries can be filed Saturday night.

Bandy-Purrell Go Declared a Draw

St. Louis and Terre Haute Boxers Clinch and Slap for 12 Uninteresting Rounds.

An inclination for holding, on the part of both contestants, ruined what had been expected to prove an attractive boxing exhibition between Kid Bandy and Bud Purrell at the South Broadway Athletic Club last night. The men went 10 rounds without inflicting serious damage on either side, and Referee Fred Gilmaster declared the bout a draw. It was a poor fight, in which clinching and open glove slapping played a great part.

Of the three exhibitions on the program, the first, an eight-round bout between Johnny Lucas and Eli Stua, at 128 pounds, was by far the best. Stua had won two good bouts recently and it was expected that he would give his more experienced opponent a serious scrap. Lucas seemed to appreciate the worth of his opponent, for he went after him from the start and made every effort to put Stua away. At the end of eight rounds Lucas had established a long lead on points and the verdict was awarded him by the referee. Stua's face was cut and one eye closed, but he was given an ovation as he left the ring.

At Thomas and Leo Roberts, the latter a Terre Haute boy, went five rounds of their scheduled eight-round exhibition before the bout was stopped and Thomas declared the winner on a foul. Thomas, a St. Louisan, did not appear to be injured by any blow, although a club physician found indications that caused him to declare Thomas had been fouled. Roberts was having the better of the bout in the round when foul was called.

MYSTERY OF CHAUFFEUR BURNED ON ROADSIDE PYRE IS SOLVED

Soldier Said to Have Confessed He Killed and Burned Man for Selling Poisoned Whisky.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.
NEW YORK, May 17.—After two weeks the police and army authorities have obtained a solution of the mystery of the murder of Jonas K. Fox, taxicab driver at Camp Dix, whose half-charred body with three bullet holes in it, was found beside a lonely road near Hainesport, N. J. The murderer had made a pyre of underbrush and tree limbs. Ernest L. Mayo, son of a Baptist minister of Camilla, Ga., and a member of the Salvage Corps of the Quartermaster's Department at Camp Dix, is said to have confessed to police detectives yesterday.

"I killed him because he sold me poisoned moonshine," Mayo is declared to have said. "He said it was real stuff. The minute I tasted it I knew it wasn't. The more I drank the madder I got. So I shot him. I thought if I burned the body no one would know. I was pretty drunk when I did it."

Fox drove Mayo and two other soldiers to Philadelphia May 2 and started back to the camp the morning of May 3.

"In the meantime we had picked up two more soldiers," Mayo is accredited with saying. "They and the two that had originally started were in the rear seat. They had drank some of Fox's moonshine and were unconscious."

Mayo was traced through fingerprints. Following the murder he came to New York and reported at the Brooklyn navy yard. He had deserted from the navy in February, 1917. But as his term of enlistment had expired the navy yard authorities were holding him for an investigation.

Detectives established communication with Brooklyn through Lieut. J. L. Carmen of Camp Dix, who had reported to them Mayo's absence.

Orange Piquet
PEEL and slice 6 oranges, removing the seeds and white pith. Slice 4 bananas and add to the cup chopped nut meats. Add 4 tablespoons marshmallows. Beat the mixture with a mixer, adding 2 tablespoons sugar. Grate of nutmeg. Place in a bowl of the mixture between slices of orange, sandwiching the slices in a glass dish, dust with powdered sugar and garnish with candied or preserved cherries.

Savory Salad
PEEL six good-sized, even tomatoes and cut them in slices. Open a box of fillet of herring, then fish in a marinade of French onion, a bay leaf and four stand half an hour, drain and then put two strips between slices of tomato, sandwiching the sandwich into a bowl and lay on lettuce leaves, with a stuffed olive on each.

Blankets still as soft and fleecy as the day you first tucked them in

YOU had had one pair ruined. Cake soap—rubbing—and your handsome blankets returned to you matted and shrunken—their softness and fleeciness gone. They could not stand the old stern methods. Wool is more sensitive than any other fabric, and requires more careful laundering. Even the suds from a harsh soap or harsh soap flake will make its delicate scale-like fibres tangle and shrink. With Lux you need not hesitate to wash your soft, fleecy blankets at the first sign of dinginess. The creamy, satiny Lux flakes whisk into a thick lather. There is no rubbing to shrink and mat the tiny fibres—not one bit of solid soap to stick to the soft wool and yellow it. Your blankets come from their Lux bath as big and soft as when you put them in.

Business, Love and Jealousy

By WINIFRED BLACK.

"I HAD too many pretty patients," said a well-known dentist in the West the other day, when she went into court to answer to his wife's suit for divorce. "My wife couldn't stand it—that's all. Every time she came to my office and saw a pretty woman either climbing into the chair or climbing out of it, she cried. At first I was sorry, but afterward I was mad. 'Plain, old-fashioned' American mad. I couldn't help it if the women were pretty, and I couldn't send them away and tell them not to come to me until they were old and unattractive—could I?" And the Court nodded. But no one could tell just exactly what the Court meant by that nod. When the case is decided, we shall probably know. In the meantime, it is rather a nuisance about the pretty women, isn't it? Poor little bride—I'm sorry for her, aren't you? I suppose there isn't a dentist's wife in the world who doesn't have moments when she wishes that her husband had none but masculine patients or even masculine penitents. Business is business. And yet—she's really wrong. The poor man must make himself agreeable to the women who come to him in the way of his profession. If he doesn't do that he won't have money enough to buy pretty things for the woman he really does love. And she ought to think of that—and be reasonable. Hard? Of course it's hard! It's all very well to talk about being high-minded and above small jealousies. And of course a really well-poised, sensible woman is high-minded and refuses to allow herself to be worried by the prettiest woman in the world, as far as her husband is concerned. But all these things take time. You can't expect a bride to learn everything at once, and it takes time and experience and a lot of tears to learn that a man who is really in love with his wife doesn't care a snap of his finger for all the pretty women in the world—not even if his wife is a plain little body without a dimple or a fascinating smile to her name. He chose her out of all the world—just her! He might have chosen one of these women, maybe, that make her so jealous. But he didn't. If he had been so awfully susceptible to beauty—why didn't he? And then, after all, business is business. A man can't choose his patients for this, that or the other reason. Poor creature, I suppose there are times enough when he'd like to. But the main thing the jealous little bride ought to learn and keep learning as long as she lives is that it isn't the other women who matter—it's the man. The Other Sort. Many a man can no more help making love to every woman who will give him even half a chance than he can help breathing—and nobody takes him seriously—except the poor thing he has been foolish enough to marry. Every woman who is in the least attractive in any kind of way knows this type of man the minute she sets her eyes on him. And she either leads him on and then makes fun of

After-Dinner Tricks

No. 124—The Changing Dice.

A pair of small dice are held between the tips of the thumb and forefinger. Attention is called to the spots of the dice which are facing the spectators. Waving the hand in the air, the spots change instantly. In waving the hand, the forefinger moves back slightly, which gives the dice a quarter turn. Naturally this changes the value of the spots. Another wave of the hand and the move is reversed, bringing the spots back to their original value. (Copyright, 1922.)

SINCE Eve first saw her face reflected in the mirror of the waters by the pool in Eden woman has always been seeking aid to improve that reflection. Almost every ancient race had some particular receipt, so to enamel and paint the face is no innovation with this age. There is one simple thing that has stood the test of all times, and because it is so simple we often neglect it, and this has to do with the kind of water we use. You see there is water and water. For instance, in some parts of the country the water is exceedingly hard and the habitual use of it tends to harden and coarsen the texture of the skin, undoing all of the good work of massage and skin food. You know that rainwater is the best for the skin, and the texture of the skin that which you draw from the faucet as supplied through the pipes. It is a simple matter to retain for your beauty bath just enough rainwater for at least washing the face. But where this is not possible you will find that a little borax added to the water will soften and make it equally beneficial in its effect. The use of borax as a beauty aid is perhaps not so universally known as it should be, but in every preparation that you purchase for the softening of the water, such as bath salts, this same borax plays a very large part. Soda will also do this, but it is much stronger and therefore must be used with a more sparing hand. A few drops of toilet water and a dash of borax and you have a bath that leaves the skin on the body as soft as velvet and also gives a very refreshing feeling and just sufficient fragrance to be delightful. In fact, this elusive fragrance is by far the best way to express one's individual preference for a certain scent. The habitual use of hard water and coarse soap will absolutely ruin a fine skin in no time. Therefore you will find the borax or the rainwater bath a delightful alternative. We have had famous stars who boasted of a full bath in milk. Many racers pride themselves on bathing the entire body in oil, and you will find that a little attention to what you use in the bath water has a wonderful effect on the texture of the skin. We sometimes consider the bath merely as an agent for cleansing, but it can mean much more than that.

HOME-MAKING HELPS

"Everything About the House Helps to Make the Home."

Do You Know How to Utilize Your Energy?

ARE you niggardly or extravagant in the use of your energy? This is a question of vital importance to the modern housewife who is doing her own work with extra help only one or two days a week. Has she standardized living conditions to the point of being able to manage her work with energy to spare, or is she struggling to live beyond her ability and using every atom of her energy every day, even tapping the reservoir of her reserve strength? This is the question. How will you answer it?

The old order of things has passed away, and all things have become new to women who keep up with the times. In planning meals, wise women think not only of food cost, but of time and energy spent in preparing a meal. The up-to-date kitchen boasts as many labor-saving devices as the family income will allow.

Modern food purveyors have turned their attention to the scientific preparation of certain foods, and it is cheaper to buy their products than to spend valuable time and energy preparing these things at home—the cracking, blanching and salting of almonds, for instance, bread and roll baking, and a dozen and one other things that spell drudgery. Fruit parsers, beaters, meat and vegetable grinders, slicers and other labor-savers aid in saving time and conserving energy.

Gas and electric stoves, dishwashers, washing machines, electric irons, folding ironing boards and vacuum cleaners are all steps in the right direction, but, after all, it is the woman's own business head that makes the most out of what there is to do with. System is necessary, otherwise conveniences are useless—to save her time and efforts.

Simplify living conditions, and the deed is done. This does not mean living poorly or denying ourselves the common comforts of life, but it means having a reason for everything we do and a simplified way of doing it. When we feel that the family needs cake, let us bake the sort that keeps well, and while we are in the kitchen let us cook other things that also keep well. We may bake a pot of beans which can be warmed up the next day, and make a lesson pie for today and an apple pie which will serve for tomorrow. In other words, make a day's spent in the kitchen pay for itself, and fully utilize the heat of the oven. Table service may be simplified in many ways. Fruits and cold relishes may vary more troublesome soups. Little paper salad plates are used on many fashionable tables where help does not need to be conserved, so why not on your table? Paper ice cream plates save work, and the new ones with figured borders are quite attractive. The tea wagon saves steps in serving meals.

Prepare food in the simplest and most wholesome way for the family, serve it nicely, and garnish it simply with fresh parsley and sliced or quartered lemons. Fancy garnishes are only for persons who have time and energy to spare for such things. Boil potatoes with their skins on—it is more economical, they cook better and they need in an instant when they are done. Prepare grapefruit by halving it instead of removing all the skin and serving the pulp in iced cups. It tastes just as well when prepared the simpler way and from half to three-quarters of an hour is saved.

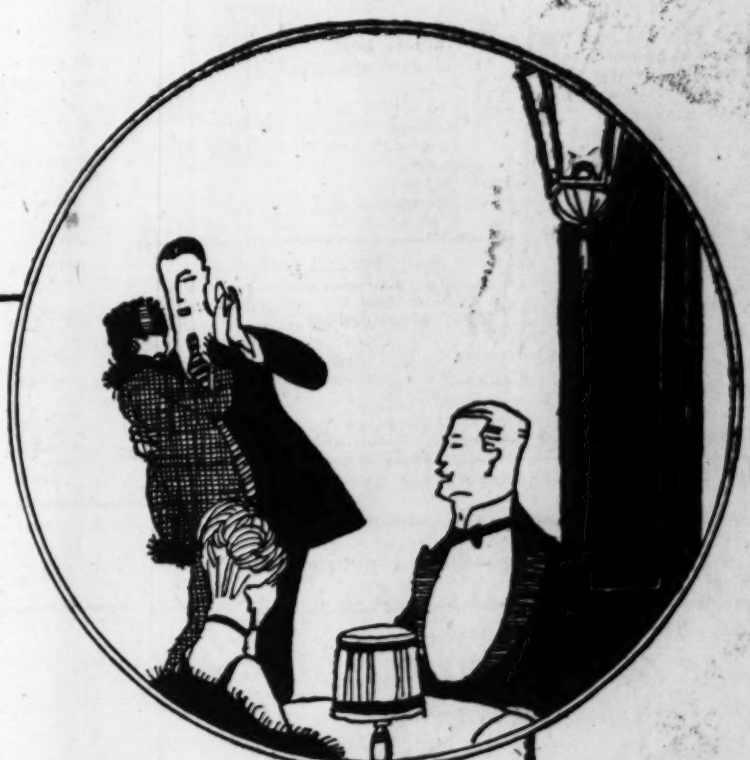

Easy salads are just as acceptable as fussy ones as long as the lettuce is crisp and fresh and the dressing good. Learn to prepare food as far as possible in the morning, then getting dinner is easy and takes but a little time.

By using the various table sets and squares, the care of the table is materially reduced. If a doyley gets wet or something is spilled on it, another may be supplied. This is much easier than having to take off a big tablecloth. Plate service saves the use of extra side dishes or sauce plates, which simplifies service and dishwashing. Cookery processes may be shortened by serious thought and each housewife should make a study of her own problems and work out a saving system which will take the drudgery out of work and make housekeeping a joy.

The petition of Dr. E. L. Kempin, candidate for the Republican nomination for State Senator in Pennsylvania, was signed solely by women.

A CHRONIC LOSER.

A Lynchburg, Va., traveling man climbed off the train in a hurry. He had only a few minutes in which to travel across town and make connections with a train for Roanoke.

For some reason or other there was a dearth at the station of vehicles for hire. The only rig in sight was an ancient carriage drawn by a scrawny old crow-bait, with an old negro for a driver.

"Right this way, boss," shouted the old man as he ran forward to relieve the traveler of his hand-baggage. "Tek you anywhere in the city for 50 cents. Hop right aboard, suh."

"I've got to rush over to the other depot," said the white man. "That mare of yours don't look very fast. Do you think she can make it?"

"Huh, dat mare?" proclaimed the old man. "She sholy kin. She's mouty deceivin' in her looks. They calls dis hoss Lightnin'."

Thus reassured, the stranger climbed in. The black Jehu mounted to his seat, snapped the lines and gave the word of command. Tottering on her shaky pins, the venerable pack of bones ambled off.

"Say, look here, uncle," said the fare, "that nag of yours may be speedy when she's feeling right, but it strikes me that she's lost her health or something. Why, she's almost weak enough to fall down in her tracks."

"Boss," said the old man, stinking his voice to a confidential undertone, "I'm gwine tell you a secret. Dat mare ain't sick, but yere lately, as you mout say, she's been kind of out o' luck."

"What do you mean—out of luck?" asked the passenger.

"Well, suh, ever maw'nin' I shakes de dice to see whether dat mare has a bait of oats or I has me a slug of gin. An' she ain't won for mouty nigh a week."

MORE TRUTH THAN POETRY

By James J. Montague

DESPERATE STRAITS.
I used to think that men were wise
I placed profound reliance
On commerce and on enterprise,
And politics and science.
I used to think that love and law
Were things that really mattered
And then along came Bernard Shaw
And these beliefs were shattered.

I used to think that by and by The nations would be willing
The ways of peace of white to try
And leave off war and killing.
I fondly fancied I foresaw
Old hatreds all forsaken;
And then along came Bernard Shaw
And proved me quite mistaken.

I have no hopes and no beliefs:
My life, once glad and cheery,
Is burdened now with bitter griefs,
And cold and sad and dreary.
In days to come, as in the past,
The wildest doubts will fret me;
Nor can I hope for Heaven at last
For Bernard Shaw won't let me!

VARIOUS WAYS.
Some men achieve celebrity,
And some men marry Peggy Joyce.

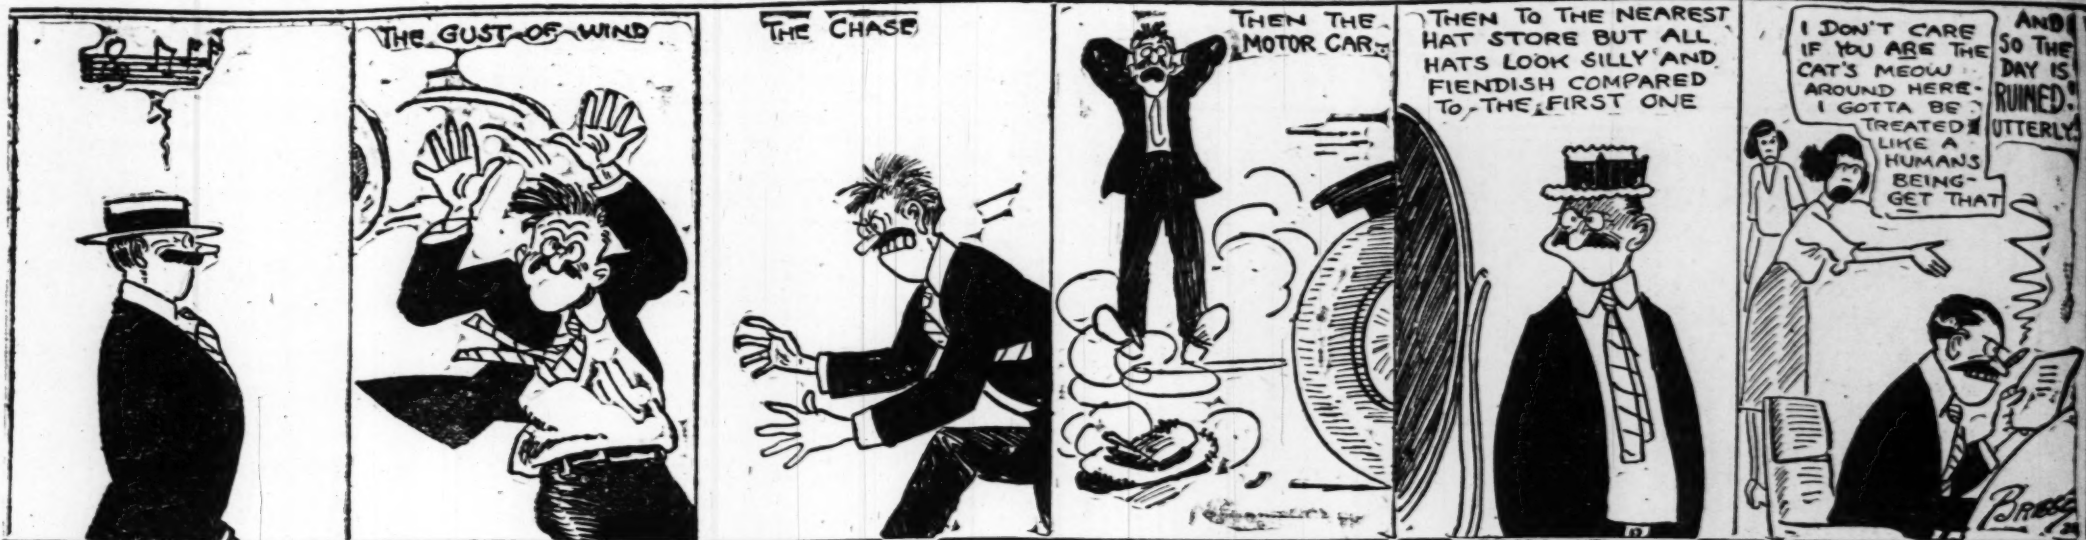

SHORTAGE OF BRAINS.
It's a dull world, after all. Some people fall in the boozing business.

IT HAD TO BE AN AUTHOR.
Probably Mr. Beveridge was made Indiana's Republican candidate for the Senate because George Ade is a Democrat and Booth Tarkington was busy.

HOW CANDIDATES LINE UP TO HEAD CONVENTION BODY

Railroad and Public Utility Interests Join in Support of George H. Williams of Webster Groves.

A. A. SPEER CHER REPUBLICAN IN RACE

Democrats to Put Names Before Conventions, but Have Little Hope of Electing President.

By a Staff Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.

JEFFERSON CITY, May 15.—Consolidation of the railroad and public utility influences in the constitution convention in support of George H. Williams of Webster Groves for this morning added strength to the Williams movement, which was waning yesterday, and brought the president in the position of being between Williams and A. A. Speer, president of the First National Bank of Jefferson City. There are 59 lawyers among the 82 delegates and a large majority have railroad or public utility connections.

In the campaign, which is being waged with the usual log-rolling methods of legislative sessions, delegates supporting both Williams and Speer have been quietly pledging choice committee chairmanships and seats in return for votes for the candidates.

It is impossible to estimate the extent to which this practice has been carried on or how successful it has been, but the evidence of its sufficiency to indicate that whoever wins will owe his election to promises made for him by supporters. Williams and Speer are Republicans and it now appears that the Democrats have abandoned hope of electing a Democrat to the presidency. Two or three Democrats will be placed in nomination and will remain candidates through several ballots, but later will be withdrawn and their support will be divided between Speer and Williams. The receiving the larger part of the Democratic support will win.

Plans for Nomination.
Williams has the more powerful support of the two Republicans, the entire committee of eight, which planned the organization, apparently being lined up for him. On the committee are Daniel G. Taylor, St. Louis, attorney for the Laclede Gas Light Co.; former Congressman Polite Elvins, attorney for the Joseph Lead interests of Southeast Missouri; Joshua W. Alexander, Gallatin, Charles D. Morris of Des Moines, C. M. Shattell of Neosho, Col.; Elvins, Williams and Bates of Springfield, an attorney representing a traffic bureau. Williams also has the support of Frank H. Harris of Rolla, an attorney for the Frisco railroad, and a number of Frisco attorneys in the counties along that railroad west of St. Louis.

Williams' Supporters.
John H. Lucas, of Cassville, attorney for the Kansas City Light and Power Co., who is supporting his partner, William T. Johnson, a Democrat, has not indicated where his support will go when the time comes to choose Johnson's candidacy. It is the general opinion he will line up with the Williams forces. Elvins is taking the most active part in manipulation for the election. Williams. He was in conference with delegates until a late hour last night.

Williams in the beginning had support of Fred Esen, Republican boss of St. Louis County, who placed him on the bipartisan slate of candidates for delegates-at-large, a to whom Williams owes his election as a delegate, but for the last day two there has appeared no evidence of Esen's support. Esen did not come to Jefferson City in aid of Williams, and there has been an indication that Esen had abandoned him.

Williams' candidacy Tuesday night and yesterday gave little indication of life, but it was revived when the public utility representatives began making a real fight for him.

Shipp Backing Speer.
Speer has the support of William Backs of St. Louis and of the Ad Salomon League, represented by Rev. W. C. Shipp, who was here several days at first working Backs for the presidency, and later when the Backs boom collapsed, Speer. This would indicate that influence of J. L. Baker, Republican National Committeeman, is back of Speer.

On the Democratic side Speer
